HARVINDER CREATES HISTORY, 1ST INDIAN TO WIN ARCHERY GOLD

India won their fourth gold of the Paralympics thanks to Harvinder Singh's brilliance in the men's recurve archery on Wednesday

HAT-TRICK OF RECORD-BREAKING DAYS

If Monday (most medals in a single day) and Tuesday (going past 19 for most medals in a single Paralympics) witnessed records, Wednesday also continued that trend, thanks to Harvinder's exploits. He had won bronze in Tokyo in 2021. Late on Tuesday, Tamil Nadu's Mariyappan Thangavelu and Bihar's Sharad Kumar won bronze and silver in the men's T63 high jump

MEDAL RUSH CONTINUES ON WEDNESDAY

- If Harvinder added a golden touch late on Wednesday, the first medal of the day came courtesy of Sachin Khilari, who won silver in the F46 shot-put category. Thus far, India have won 22 medals | P15

1,00,000 TREES UPROOTED IN T'GANA FOREST

Freak weather at Eturnagaram Wildlife Sanctuary produced tornado-like effect

A rare weather phenomenon left waste thousands of trees — some estimates put the figure at over one lakh — across 200 hectares in the Eturnagaram Wildlife Sanctuary between Medaram-Pasara and Medaram-Tadavi in Telangana. While there was no loss to fauna due to what was described by some environmentalists as a squall, the ecological damage was incalculable.

Panchayat Raj Minister Danasari Anasuya alias Seethakka said they never expected around one lakh trees getting uprooted due to a heavy gale.

According to forest officials, trees like neem, banyan, peepal and others bore the brunt of nature's fury. Leopards were spotted in the sanctuary spread over 81,200 hectares though wild animals seldom venture to this area.

Elusing Meru, the Principal Chief Conservator of Forests (Protection and Vigilance) told this newspaper: "This is a very rare incident and very unlikely in a state like Telangana. This is probably the result of high winds and cloudburst."

Senior officials of the India Meteorological Department said, "This is a highly localised convective activity. We are examining the exact nature and cause. Our preliminary observations are that it was an effect of thunderstorm activity and strong pressure deficiency, giving it a tornado effect."

Experts concurred. Environmentalist and public policy expert Donthi Narasimha Reddy said: "What has happened in Mulugu seems to be a squall, a localised storm or sudden gusty winds, a very unusual weather condition, due to heavy rains and thunderstorms. Such occurrences are common in West Bengal and the Northeast but very rare in a geography like Telangana."

Mulugu District Forest Officer (DFO) Rahul Jadhav told reporters that the devastation occurred on August 31, possibly due to localised strong wind pressure and a cloudburst. He said the incessant rains appeared to have led to soil erosion, contributing to the uprooting of the trees.

NEW ROLE FOR FIRE ENGINES

Fire engines from across Andhra parked at BRTS road to clean the accumulated silt in flooded Singh Nagar since the water is receding, in Vijayawada on Wednesday. It was among the worst affected areas due to the rains | PRASANT MADUGULA

DIAGONAL WIND FLATTENED THEM?

"From the extent of damage, the squall appears to be over 90 kmph. Besides, the winds must have been diagonal, unlike the regular horizontal winds. Horizontal winds do not have the potential to cause such massive destruction," said environmentalist Donthi Narasimha Reddy

AIR INDIA'S BENGALURU MRO TO CREATE 1,200 JOBS

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE @ Bengaluru

THE Air India Group on Wednesday announced the construction of a mega Maintenance, Repair and Overhaul (MRO) facility at the Kempegowda International Airport, for which it has earmarked Rs 1,400 crore investment. With this, the Tata Group-owned airline behemoth eyes developing Bengaluru as a major hub, apart from Delhi and Mumbai, while also aiming to build a strong self-reliant aviation ecosystem for the country.

Earlier this year, Air India signed an MoU with the Karnataka government to establish the MRO facility in Bengaluru. The upcoming facility, spread across 35 acres, is slated to become an important hub for Air India Group's aircraft maintenance operations in the region, as it modernises its fleet and expands global reach.

India for development, not expansionism: PM in Brunei

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday took a swipe at China saying India supports a "policy of development, and not expansionism" as he concluded his two-day visit to Brunei Darussalam. Modi's comment at a banquet hosted by Sultan Haji Hassanal Bolkiah came at a time when China is engaged in territorial disputes with the Philippines, Malaysia, Vietnam, Brunei, and Taiwan.

"A code of conduct should be finalised in this region," Modi said, adding: "We support freedom of navigation and overflight under international laws like UNCLOS. This was the first bilateral visit by an Indian Prime Minister to Brunei. According to a joint statement issued after the visit, India and Brunei have elevated their relationship to an 'enhanced partnership'.

After concluding his Brunei visit, PM Modi arrived in Singapore for a two-day visit. He was hosted by Singapore PM Lawrence Wong for a private dinner. Modi and Wong will have an official bilateral meeting on Thursday.

Kannada film body for panel to probe 'abuse'

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

WITH the Justice Hema Committee's shocking revelations about the Kerala Film Industry, including sexual abuses, the Film Industry for Rights & Equality (FIRE) has urged the Karnataka Government to set up a committee headed by a retired judge to investigate and report such alleged incidents of abuse faced by women in Sandalwood.

In all, 153 individuals from the Karnataka Film Industry and other organisations fighting for gender justice have signed a petition initiated by FIRE.

Actor Chetan, who welcomed this initiative, told TNIE that the petition is ready and FIRE will submit it to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah shortly. "We expect the state government to be proactive and take swift action. I know CM Siddaramaiah is committed to these issues. If Kerala can do it, why can't we? In Kerala's 300-page report, about 60 are dedicated to addressing sexual harassment. If they can clean up, so can we." P2

Rahul intellectual, Rajiv doer: Pitroda

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

SAM Pitroda, a Rajiv Gandhi aide, on Wednesday claimed that Rahul Gandhi is more intellectual and more of a strategist than his father Rajiv.

Pitroda, who heads the Indian Overseas Congress, described both as "custodians of the idea of India". He made the remarks in an interview with a news agency ahead of Rahul's visit to the US next week. Pitroda said Rajiv was a little more doer.

"I had an opportunity to see many Pms from very close quarters but the difference between Rahul and Rajiv maybe is that Rahul is much more intellectual, and thinker, Rajiv was a little more doer. They have the same DNA, concerns and feelings for the people, genuinely believe in building a better India for everybody, and are genuinely simple people," he said.

"Rahul is a strategist, more so than Rajiv was. They are products of different times... Poor Rahul has gone through two big shocks in life, the death of his grandmother and his father. So they have had different paths to travel," he said.

Expressway gives Mysuru real estate a big fillip

Bengalureans eye cheap land in Mysuru, invest in holiday homes in Heritage City

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

IT has been nearly six months since the Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway was thrown open to the public, facilitating connectivity between the two cities, and shrinking travel time to within 90 minutes. Mysuru is now reaping the benefits, with Bengalureans investing in property there, according to the Confederation of Real Estate Developers Association of India (CREDAI).

The expressway, launched by Prime Minister Modi on March 12, permits a maximum speed limit of 100kmph, and has halved the earlier travel time of over three hours.

Speaking to TNIE on the sidelines of a discussion on real estate on Wednesday, CREDAI Bengaluru president Amar Mysore said, "Real estate in Mysuru is gaining traction due to the newly launched expressway. Within an hour and 15 or 20 minutes, one can reach Bengaluru. This is prompting Bengalureans to invest in a second home or holiday home in Mysuru. Compared to Bengaluru, real estate is affordable. It is particularly useful for those in South Bengaluru, like Nayandahalli or Kengeri."

The concept of Work From Home which some companies allow twice or thrice a week too is fuelling interest, the president said. "One can work from their Mysuru home and reach the city in a little over an hour if they have to report to office," he added.

Asked if people from other states working in Bengaluru were opting for it, Amar said, "Those from other states prefer Bengaluru for its shopping, food and other entertainment aspects. The interest in Mysuru is more from Bengalureans who want to enjoy the benefits the city offers. The demand is only set to surge in future."

FKCCI past-president Perikal M Sundar said, "Land is cheaper in Mysuru, the environment is good and the cost of living is lower compared to Bengaluru. So there is a preference for Mysuru."

ACUTE LABOUR SHORTAGE

Amar Mysore said a huge labour shortage across the State is crippling the construction industry. "At present, we are operating with only 60% of the labour force that we actually require for our projects, and it's the key reason why most real estate projects in Bengaluru are overshooting deadlines," he said.

The real estate scene in Mysuru has been very sluggish with very slow offtake of finished construction projects. Building projects need to be completed and then marketed, unlike in Bengaluru where there is always a huge demand. Once you cross Kengeri, there is literally no bottleneck to reach Mysuru. This is definitely going to lead to much better investments in the city, and the pick-up signs are already showing. – Suresh Hari, State Secretary of CREDAI

Address real estate issues: CREDAI to govt

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE lowering of the hiked stamp duty rates for Joint Development Agreements and mortgage of title deeds, streamlining plan approvals and clarity on the Transfer of Development Rights (TDR) are the key grievances faced by the realty sector in the state, says CREDAI. A memorandum was submitted to DCM DK Shivakumar on Saturday.

CREDAI Bengaluru president Amar Mysore said residential projects in the city are expected to increase by 10-15%, compared to last year. "The market is poised for significant expansion across various micro markets due to strong IT sector growth, a thriving startup culture and infra development," he said.

Emerging micro markets like Bagalur are experiencing a nearly 70% surge in residential property prices over the past five years, he specified, however adding that the sector faced many challenges. "The TDR is a tedious process. By simplifying it, the owners giving up land will not be disadvantaged," he observed.

He also called for streamlining plan approvals. "Measures such as a single-window system for obtaining NOCs, reducing approval fees that is currently linked to guidance value and standardising zonal regulations across various planning authorities are required for ease of doing business," he said. Unnecessary procedures like commencement certificates need to be eliminated, he added.

"The stamp duty has been increased on an ad valorem basis without any cap and we recommend lowering it. We have suggested implementing a staggered payment scheme for remittance of labour cess as construction happens over a period of time," the president said.

Another branch falls, another citizen dies

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

IN yet another incident of civic negligence claiming the life of a citizen, a 60-year-old autorickshaw driver lost his life when a huge tree branch fell on his vehicle near Jayanagar 4th T-Block around 8:20am on Wednesday.

The victim Khaleel Khan, who suffered head injuries, was rushed to National Institute of Mental Health and Neuro Sciences (Nimhans) and the fallen tree branch was cleared from the spot. The damaged auto was moved to the jurisdictional police station. The family of the victim, which resides in Padarayanapura in West Zone, was informed about the incident.

Doctors who treated the victim informed the family that due to grievous injuries, the patient could not be saved, and was declared dead at 2pm. "We condoled the family members and as per BBMP norms, Rs 5 lakh ex-gratia will be released to the victim's family. The Palike forest department will bear the treatment cost as well as the last rites expenses," said BLG Swamy, Deputy Conservator of Forests, BBMP.

Gulmohar trees more vulnerable during rain and winds, BBMP appeals to people not to stand near such trees during rain

The official said following the previous incident of tree fall on August 12, in which six persons including four schoolchildren suffered injuries, the Palike started identifying dangerous and vulnerable trees and deployed teams to prune them. "Trees like Gulmohar are most vulnerable during rain and winds and branches of roadside and footpath trees are being identified and cleared accordingly, the latest incident was unfortunate," said an official.

On August 16, another autorickshaw driver, Shivarudraiah, died in a similar incident following moderate rain in Vijayanagar. On August 20, in Sadashivanagar Traffic Police limits, an NGO staffer suffered a head injury after a tree fell on the autorickshaw in which he was travelling, and is being treated at a private hospital. On Sunday (Sept 1), two of three family members sustained grievous injuries after a 15-year-old tree fell on them while they were travelling in a car near Anil Kumble Circle. These back-to-back incidents have put the Palike in a tight spot.

Leopard sighted in Anekal residential area

BENGALURU: The residents of Kyalasanahalli village in Anekal are a worried lot since Sunday, after a leopard was captured by a CCTV camera of an apartment complex. The location where the leopard was seen wandering at around 2 am, is 3-4 km away from the boundary of Bannerghatta National Park. Following a complaint by locals, a team of forest officials visited the area and inspected it. "The area is close to forest habitat. On the locals' request, we placed a cage and deployed a patrol team. But there has been no signs of the leopard in the vicinity since then," an official said. While combing the area, the department has not noted any direct sighting of the big cat, while pug marks were seen on vacant sites. The forest staffers removed the cage on Wednesday. ENS

Bescom issues safety norms for Ganesha pandals

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

INSTRUCTING organisers of Ganesha Chaturthi pandals to contact the jurisdictional sub-divisional officers for temporary electricity connections, Bescom said sub-divisional authorities have been directed to provide immediate electricity connections and coordinate with local authority officials.

"While celebrating the festival, the public must also prioritise safety. Bescom will assist with the lighting system. It is crucial to adhere to all safety measures during the installation and dismantling of the idol to prevent any electrical accidents," Bescom MD Mahantesh Bilagi said. He directed the organisers to notify the jurisdictional sub-divisional officers of the procession route in advance so Bescom can provide necessary assistance.

According to Bescom guidelines, organisers applying for temporary connection must obtain a no-objection letter from all relevant authorities, including BBMP, BDA, Grama Panchayat and local police station. After the NOC is obtained, the assistant executive engineer or assistant engineer will visit the site for a detailed inspection, and only then will permission be granted, Bilagi said.

"Once you have obtained the wiring completion report from a registered electrical contractor, which confirms the safety of the wiring, installation of the MCB (Miniature Circuit Breaker) and EIA (Earthing Inspection and Approval), the relevant authorities will then visit the Ganesha Chaturthi installation site to provide connection to the organisers. After a temporary electricity connection is provided, the meter must be returned and the final reading recorded once the specified period has ended," a Bescom release said.

SAFETY MEASURES FOR PANDALS

For serial lights and other decorations, ensure the wiring is adequately insulated

Avoid contact with electric poles while installing serial lights

Do not attach shamiyanas, tents or other items to electrical wires, poles or transformer stations

Be mindful of overhead power lines during procession, do not attempt to lift power lines

In case of any live wires or electrical sparks, immediately dial helpline 1912

Mark danger zones, where electrical equipment is set up for the pandal installation

It's time for women not to be scared, says actor

CHETAN, who made his Sandalwood debut with Aa Dinagalu in 2007, said, "When I entered this industry, I witnessed how women can be vulnerable in a male-dominated, patriarchal system. I've seen what happens to those, especially women, who stand up and try to challenge the status quo."

Chetan Ahimsa, who starred in the 2013 hit film, Myna, and grew up in Illinois, Chicago, has been recognised by his peers for his progressive views. He said, "When we started FIRE here, we were in touch with actors from the Kerala Film Industry. During the Me Too movement, we helped victims through FIRE, providing legal and other support. I've seen instances where victims were blamed, and we're working to ensure that the entire film industry becomes gender equitable. Kerala has taken an institutional approach and many have been helped. The film industry needs a cleanup, it's about restoring gender dignity. FIRE is committed to creating ideologically equalitarian platforms, and it's time we stand up for gender justice. If we take the right steps, change will come soon."

Actor Neetu Shetty of Gaalipata fame, said, "I joined FIRE in 2018. It is time for women not to be scared. Every time we speak up, our voices are often suppressed."

BIZ DOWN? VENDORS NOT KEEN TO SHIFT TO PALIKE BAZAAR

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

THE newly opened Palike Bazaar in Vijayanagar, the first ever underground market created by the BBMP, has little to no takers. The vendors who are operating from pushcarts, makeshift sheds and tents near the road, say they are not keen to shift to an air-conditioned space, fearing losing business. Instead, the cool ambience is sought after by citizens, especially students.

The BBMP created the underground shopping area for 79 stalls, near the Vijayanagar Metro station, at a cost of Rs 13 crore. Work for the bazaar had started in 2017, but was only completed in 2024. It was inaugurated by CM Siddaramaiah on August 25, but so far only three vendors have shifted there, who say they repent their decision, citing a dip in business.

"I am shifting back to my pushcart. I do not want to suffer losses during the festive season. The building is air-conditioned, but apart from a tubelight, the shop allotted to us has nothing else. There is already seepage on the walls within a week of the bazaar's opening. During night hours, we operate from the roadside makeshift shed," said Basavaraj, a vegetable vendor.

Similar was the reaction of Kallamma, who sells religious paraphernalia. "Ever since I have shifted here, the sales are nearly zero. We were told to shift at the earliest and I did. Now, I will rent a pushcart," she said.

Reacting to this trend, a BBMP official said the occupation is less as the area is new. Besides, the formal allotment of the stalls is yet to be done. Electric meters need to be fixed. "We will also pursue the vendors to shift to the bazaar. Continuing business after the start of the bazaar is not permitted,," the official added.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

05th September: All today's major planetary patterns are emotional. This is a fine day for artists, poets, dreamers, lovers and visionaries. If, on the other hand, you have appointments to keep, business to conduct, and practical tasks to complete, you'd better take extra care!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Can you now see that all the changes that have taken place at work have been both necessary and to your long-term advantage? Hopefully you have by now also taken steps to clean up your diet and improve your exercise regime. It's a day for self-discipline if ever I saw one.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Commonsense should dictate that you go ahead with all speed to maintain a harmonious environment at work. Decisions need to be taken and discussions must be held, if only so that colleagues are kept in the picture. If you leave them out of the scene now you'll provoke amisunderstanding.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You must be prepared to consider long-term arrangements, which should moderate your willingness to take risks. However, there is scope for radical discussions as far as joint financial arrange-ments are concerned. Take time off for a romantic dalliance.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You may be tempted to haul up your drawbridge today, denying other people access to your innermost thoughts. Such behaviour is of course typical of your sign and fully in keeping with your past practice. Yet that is no reason not to change now, and prepare for a different future.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
The best planetary aspects relate to finances but, in all honesty, we cannot say that you are subject to any undeserved good luck. You will have worked hard for every extra penny and cent you receive, so ignore other people's envy: it means nothing.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You may have to deal with financial issues in greater detail than is usual. However, this year the period of monetary concern is arriving slightly earlier than last, and is also more auspicious. How pleasant it is to be facing a promising planetary picture.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You may still be concerned that people close to you may not be pulling their weight. Mind you, there's an easy way to deal with such problems, and that's not to take on so much yourself. After all, if other people learnt to clear up after themselves the world would be a much better place!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
The best way forward for you and all who are concerned with your welfare is to put blatant self-interest to one side. Please try and understand other people's real, emotional needs and do your best to satisfy them. In fact, you should bend over backwards to do them a good turn.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You may endeavour to apply humour and commonsense to complex financial and social situations. You're about to go through a political phase, perhaps immersing yourself in community activities. This certainly looks like a moment to bring out all your selfless virtues.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
For some time, now, you have been advised to expect a substantial alteration in the pattern of your professional life. The phase which you have now entered is favourable for making initial contacts, putting forward fresh proposals and attending interviews.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Something is still disturbing or perplexing you. However, all that your solar chart indicates is that there are mysteries afoot, not what these are or even how you will solve a current dilemma. A cash complication will be no more than a temporary blip, so don't get too wound up.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You will begin to find that partners are becoming somewhat more irrational and less happy to consult or agree on basic terms. You may be forced to fight your corner or surrender recent gains. Have you considered that a tactical retreat might be the best policy?

SIDDU PLAYS OWN GAME TO SAVE CHAIR, HOSTS DINNER FOR MINs

Cabinet likely to discuss probe reports on Covid, PSI scams today

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

AMID talk in political circles of a change in chief minister's post, CM Siddaramaiah adopted a Machiavellian tactic to keep his flock of ministers together.

He recently held a dinner meeting with a section of ministers, especially Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar. He also took other ministers, including Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa, and leaders who did not attend the dinner meeting into confidence.

To diver attention from the MUDA site allotment issue that is shaking his chair, Siddaramaiah is now training his guns on the opposition by reopening old cases of irregularities that allegedly occurred during the previous BJP government.

The cabinet meeting on Thursday will likely discuss action to be taken on the Justice John Michael D'Cunha inquiry commission's interim report on irregularities of around Rs 7,200 crore in tackling Covid. The government also has the Justice B Veerappa commission report on the police sub-inspector recruitment scam.

The cabinet will discuss tabling of these reports during the winter session of the legislature, sources said.

As Justice D'Cunha has presented only an interim report, how the government will deal with it is to be seen, they added.

CM Siddaramaiah speaks to the media after offering puja to Goddess Chamundeshwari in Mysuru on Wednesday | EXPRESS

"With the party high command backing Siddaramaiah strongly, he has ensured that there is no groupism within his government. It is evident from the statements of his cabinet colleagues and party leaders that he should not resign whatever is the high court verdict," said a Congress leader.

Though Shivakumar's name is doing the rounds for the chief minister's post if it falls vacant, he is not interested as the high command has promised him the post after the first half of the present Congress government's tenure gets over, he added.

Interestingly, senior leader RV Deshpande who had sarcastically said he would become CM only if Siddaramaiah gives his assent on Wednesday clarified that the latter will be the CM for full five years. PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi, who met high command leaders in New Delhi a few days ago, discussed only about him becoming KPCC president and not about the CM's post, sources said. "This means that there is no leader of potential to pose an immediate threat to Siddaramaiah, unless the high command decides to change the CM," the leader added.

Cautioning those working against him, Siddaramaiah, during the birth anniversary of Sangolli Rayanna, said there have been backstabbers since ages. Referring to Mir Sadiq, who helped the British catch Tipu Sultan, he thundered, "Until I have the blessings of the people nobody can shake me", sending out a message to his detractors.

CM MUST QUIT BEFORE COURT VERDICT: BSY

Shivamogga: Once the court announces its verdict in the MUDA case, such a situation will arise that Chief Minister Siddaramaiah will be forced to tender his resignation, said former CM and BJP leader BS Yediyurappa. "To avoid such a situation, Siddaramaiah should resign with dignity before the court verdict. All the scams that occurred under the Siddaramaiah government will be proved, and he can't escape at any cost," he told reporters here on Wednesday. To a query on the state government's decision to probe irregularities during the Covid pandemic under the previous BJP government, Yediyurappa said, "It's their call. The BJP will not put up any fight on the issue." On notices to four ministers by the governor, he said, "The governor has the powers to serve notice to them. Let us see what the ministers do." ENS

Cong brass may favour consensus leader as CM

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @Belagavi

AS pressure mounts on Congress to decide on replacing Chief Minister Siddaramaiah over the MUDA site allotment issue, the party high command appears to be working on various permutations and combinations, apart from rooting for a consensus candidate that would lead to no controversies.

Even as Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar remains the favourite to replace Siddaramaiah, the high command is also exploring the possibility of picking a leader from backward classes as next CM to consolidate backward communities.

Sources said that a section of party leaders is rallying behind AICC Chairman Mallikarjun Kharge for the top post, while another section is keen on popular and younger leaders, like PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi, if a consensus emerges.

On Sunday, Jarkiholi was in New Delhi to meet central leaders amid speculation that the party is giving serious thought to giving him a chance this time. His popularity as a powerful leader of backward classes, next only to Siddaramaiah, and the support of over 30 MLAs, including 15 legislators from the ST community, that he enjoys makes his case for the top post stronger.

A top party source said that Jarkiholi should be Siddaramaiah's choice as his replacement if the party top brass takes his consent. Siddaramaiah has a close association with the Jarkiholi family, which has three MLAs, an MLC and an MP.

Sources said Congress leader Rahul Gandhi also had a discussion with Jarkiholi on the political developments in the state and the possible change of guard. However, Gandhi and other top leaders are still not clear as to who should replace Siddaramaiah if the situation demands, the sources said .

Party top leaders also had a discussion with Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara a few days ago. But he, despite being a Dalit leader, may not get the support of MLAs, like Kharge or Jarkiholi, for the CM's post.

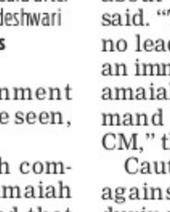
With Congress increasingly coming under pressure from the opposition to replace the CM, the party is undecided on whether Shivakumar should replace Siddaramaiah or to go with a leader of the backward classes.

As controversy rages, MUDA chief hospitalised

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

MUDA Chairman K Marigowda was rushed to a private hospital in Mysuru after he experienced severe discomfort. He reportedly showed signs of exhaustion and significant distress while traveling to Bengaluru by car. Initially admitted to a hospital in Bengaluru, he was later transferred to Mysuru for further treatment.

Marigowda, known for his close ties with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, has faced numerous challenges since taking over as MUDA chairman. His tenure has been fraught with controversies that have complicated matters for the CM. Recently, Mysuru Congress leader M Siddegowda accused Marigowda of being responsible for the current MUDA crisis, citing letters he sent to the DC and MUDA commissioner as evidence.



Reports have also emerged that Marigowda's wife Jayashree — a teacher — purchased a multi-storeyed house in the upscale Dattagalli area of Mysuru for approximately Rs 6 crore.

BJP MLC Adagur Vishwanath, who first raised the MUDA issue, has been critical of Marigowda. He has accused Marigowda of lacking genuine interest in making MUDA operations transparent and claimed that Marigowda is constructing a house on a 50x80 site in Mysuru and owns additional properties in Bengaluru.

Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh has obtained a court injunction to prevent Vishwanath from making further statements.

Sources suggest that Marigowda has been under immense pressure because of the MUDA site allotment controversy and heightened media scrutiny, especially after a BJP padayatra to Myuru. Additionally, Marigowda's visit to Bengaluru is under scrutiny, with claims that he was aware of the shifting of MUDA's significant activities to a new office in Bengaluru, chosen by Byrathi Suresh.

Siddu will walk away unscathed: Rajanna

BR UDAYA KUMAR @Hebbanahalli (Sakleshpur)

STATING that Chief Minister Siddaramaiah will definitely get justice in the alleged MUDA scam, Cooperation Minister KN Rajanna said Siddaramaiah was not in a position to influence the MUDA when the sites were allotted.

After visiting the Yettinahole project site here on Wednesday, he told reporters that MUDA sites were allocated after a resolution was passed during a meeting attended by BJP and JDS MLAs when BJP was in power.

Referring to MLA RV Deshpande's wish to become CM, Rajanna said the post is not vacant. "Many leaders aim for the CM's chair, but this is not the time to squabble over the post. By drumming up the alleged MUDA scam, opposition parties are trying to tarnish the image of Siddaramaiah, who is the strongest backward class leader in the state."

The Congress is considering the Channapatna bypoll as a prestige issue, and all leaders are working together to win the seat, Rajanna said. "The party high command will finalise the candidate after discussions with Deputy CM DK Shivakumar," he added. Perhaps for the first time, Rajanna lauded Shivakumar for his efforts to implement the first stage of the Yettinahole project by clearing all hurdles. He thanked Shivakumar on behalf of the people of seven districts that will benefit from the project.

Hassan MP Shreyas Patel and KHB Chairman KM Shivalingegowda among others were present.

Cong leaders squabble over syndicate seats

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE appointment of members to syndicates of the state's universities has triggered a sort of controversy, with a section of Congress leaders unhappy with the alleged oneupmanship of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah. There were also some rumours that 'disgruntled' leaders may approach the party high command.

They felt that those who had identified with the party and toiled hard to bring it to power, should have been considered. But the CM's supporters claimed that varsity syndicates should not be a rehabilitation centre. "We have got appreciation from academic circles and ideologues as we have refreshed varsities with deserving candidates," defended the CM's supporters.

Scholars such as Nataraj Boodal and Nataraj Huliyar, young generation of ideologues such as Cha Ha Raghunatha, Siddappa Moolage, NAM Ismail, Ayesh Farzana, K Sharifa and Sahana Pijara were among those selected, they pointed out. The lion's share was given to AHINDA community members, they added.

Congress leader Kavitha Reddy, who had questioned the decision, was issued showcause notice by the party's disciplinary committee headed by former Union minister K Rahman Khan recently.

The government had issued an order appointing members to syndicates of Bengaluru University, Bengaluru City and North University and Gulbarga University among others.

BJP WILL HAVE 400 NEW MEMBERS IN EACH BOOTH: BYV

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE state unit of BJP, which launched a membership drive on Wednesday, is expecting to beat its previous year's record of 1.08 crore members.

Launching the drive here, unit president BY Vijayendra said each booth will have at least 400 new BJP members. "We will identify people from various sections of society and make them BJP members. This drive will beat the previous membership record to mark the birth centenary of party leader and former PM AB Vajpayee. Our membership drive will help achieve PM Narendra Modi's vision of Viksit Bharat by 2047," he said.

On Congress leaders approaching the governor for sanction to prosecute Leader of Opposition in the Legislative Council Chalavadi Narayanaswamy in a land case, Vijayendra said why didn't CM Siddaramaiah or DyCM DK Shivakumar go with them? Even ministers in the Siddaramaiah cabinet did not go. No senior leader from Congress was part of the delegation that met the governor, he added.

The suspension of the MUDA commissioner indicates that Siddaramaiah had a role in the alleged irregularities in allotment of sites by MUDA. The CM has to resign and it will become inevitable for him to do so soon, he said.

On his recent meeting with BJP national president JP Nadda and Union Home Minister Amit Shah, Vijayendra said that he discussed Channapatna, Shiggaon and Sandur byelections with them. CP Yogeshwar has expressed his desire to contest from Channapatna. "We will send a list of candidates from Karnataka and the party leaders in New Delhi will finalise it," he added.

HC rejects pleas against retrial in ZP member murder case

Bengaluru: The Karnataka High Court dismissed the petitions filed by some accused challenging the order by the Special Court for CBI cases for a re-trial in light of the supplementary chargesheets filed by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) against former minister Vinay R Kulkarni and others in the Dharwad ZP member Yogesh Goudar murder case. The petitioners requested the court to quash the special court's order and direct the prosecution to conduct the trial on the chargesheet filed by the state police and without considering the supplementary chargesheets filed by the CBI indicting Kulkarni and others. Justice M Nagaprasanna dismissed the petitions filed by Vikram Ballari and others who challenged the order dated June 28, 2024.

Yogeshwara a threat, has no place in JDS gameplan

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

WITH the BJP high command leaving it to Union minister HD Kumaraswamy to take a call on the candidate for the Channapatna bypoll, former minister and MLC CP Yogeshwara's chances of become NDA candidate may have turned bleak.

The JDS has a straight question for Yogeshwara: Why does he want to contest the bypoll despite being a sitting MLC. "We have workers who had toiled for the party and will take a decision once the date for the bypolls are declared. Yogeshwara's term as MLC ends in 2026," JDS youth wing state president Nikhil Kumaraswamy told reporters in Koppal on Wednesday.

Kumaraswamy had put forth the same question before the BJP high command, and convinced them, a source told TNIE.

The JDS does not even want to field him on its party symbol, though he is ready for it, as it wants to field either a member of Kumaraswamy's family or loyal party leaders, including Channapatna taluk JDS president Jayamuttuor 'Hopcoms' Devaraj, according to sources.

The JDS knows that once it cedes the seat to Yogeshwara, it would help him re-emerge as a strong Vokkaliga leader of the region, and doesn't want to take the risk, sources added.

Already, Congress leaders DyCM DK Shivakumar and his younger brother and former MP DK Suresh have made an impression in the region as strong community leaders, and the JDS is in no mood to allow another leader to stir up the situation, observed a political analyst. For Kumaraswamy and Nikhil, both Shivakumar and Yogeshwara are a potential threat in future, he added.

Priyank: Karnataka numero uno in IT, no state, even Telangana, close

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KARNATAKA is way ahead of any state, including Telangana, in the Information Technology sector in India, said IT and BT Minister Priyank Kharge.

"As many people are telling me that Telangana is inching closer to Karnataka in IT, I would like to assure them again that there is absolutely no competition between Karnataka and Telangana as our state is way ahead of them," Kharge said, adding that no state is coming near Karnataka any time soon. He was speaking at the inauguration of the 20th edition of the Confederation of Indian Industries' India Innovation Summit—Innoverge 2024—here on Wednesday.

Last year, former Infosys CFO Mohandas Pai stated that Hyderabad will dethrone Bengaluru's IT status because of continued neglect of the city by successive governments over the last 10 years. "In electronic design, Karnataka stands number one in the country. In machine tool manufacturing, we have 52 per cent share. In defence manufacturing, we have a 65 per cent share. We are exporting $5 billion worth of electronic accessories. IT exports last year were close to Rs 4.5 lakh crore, which is twice that of Telangana," Kharge said.

Minister Priyank Kharge with Infosys co-founder Kris Gopalakrishnan at Innoverge in Bengaluru on Wednesday

He pointed out that Karnataka is $214 billion ahead of Telangana in terms of business in IT. The neighbouring state's IT business is almost half compared to Karnataka.

"We are number five in the top 50 AI cities in the world. In the last two years, Karnataka has added $9 billion to the bioeconomy, taking it from $22 billion to $31 billion last year. Bengaluru is one of the most sustainable growth engines in Asia, and the state has a robust system in place," he said.

He said 20 Centres of Excellence, which are anchored by the industry and the academia, are run by the Karnataka government, and sought the support of the industry to accelerate them.

CII and the Department of Information Technology & Biotechnology (ITBT), Karnataka, launched the Karnataka CleanTech Startup Accelerator.

The new initiative is designed to boost clean technology startups by offering mentorship, funding, and resources essential for rapid growth.

B'luru-Mysuru highway reports drop in fatalities

Pedestrian accidents still a matter of concern with few underpasses on route

RAKSHITH GOWDA @ Bengaluru

STRICTER enforcement measures on the Bengaluru-Mysuru access-controlled highway have led to a significant decrease in the number of fatal accidents this year. In 2024, 50 fatal accidents were reported on the highway from January to August, compared to 147 fatal accidents during the same period in 2023. The decline in fatal accidents is attributed to several factors, including the booking of FIRs against drivers caught speeding above 130 kmph, safety measures implemented and adoption of technology driven traffic surveillance.

Speaking to TNIE, Additional Director General of Police (ADGP) for Traffic and Road Safety Alok Kumar said that while the number of fatal accident cases have come down on the highway, pedestrian accidents on the highway is a matter of concern. There are only a few underpasses and no foot-over bridges to cross the highway, affecting both the commuters and pedestrians. Maddur, Channapatna and Bidadi are the spots where pedestrians are more vulnerable to accidents, and this has to come down, the officer said, adding that as there are no foot-over bridges at these spots, locals are cutting grill of the fence to cross the road.

Meanwhile, there is a drastic decline in overspeeding as the cops are booking FIRs against the driver who cross above 130 kmph. So far, 411 FIRs have been registered against the drivers. "Those who cross 100 kmph will receive a SMS for overspeeding. In cases where FIR is registered, the police will call and inform the offenders. We are also recommending the RTO to impound the driving license of these violaters, while recommending for suspension of the permit of yellow board vehicles that are found violating the speed limits," Kumar said.

After creating awareness of the sectional cameras, cases of overspeeding have come down in the last 10 days. "If number of accidents come down on the highway, then we will increase the speed limit to 120 kmph. While in the last month, Rs 1.23 crore fines were collected for various violations on the stretch. Highest number of cases are booked for driving without fastening seat belts and lane violation," the ADGP said.

Pavithra root cause of heinous crime: Sessions court

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

Renukaswamy

Pavithra Gowda

A city civil and sessions court observed that actress and fashion designer Pavithra Gowda is the root cause of the murder of Renukaswamy, after perusing material produced before it. The material shows the deceased was "tortured in an unimaginable manner", said the court, adding that the crime is "heinous and gruesome".

The court pointed out that the DNA report revealed the blood samples of the deceased matched the blood found on Pavithra's clothes and the slipper which she had allegedly used to assault Renukaswamy. The deceased had reportedly sent her nude photographs from his Instagram account.

Mentioning these facts in the order rejecting bail on August 31, 56th Additional City Civil and Sessions Court Judge Jai Shankar noted there is strong prima facie material of Pavithra's complicity in the alleged crime, which is "heinous and gruesome".

Pointing out that she may tamper with prosecution witnesses if released on bail, the judge said the impact on society is a necessary fact to be considered while hearing the bail petition. "Considering the seriousness and gravity of the offence, I am of the opinion that if the petitioner is released on bail, it would give the wrong message to society," the judge said.

Quoting the postmortem report, the court stated that the deceased had suffered 39 injuries, including severe ones such as his chest bone being broken, deep bleeding head injury, testicles being damaged, electrocution, etc. The photographs produced with the case diary show the deceased had sustained injuries on almost all parts of the body, and some of the injuries appear to be severe. These facts show the deceased was tortured in an unimaginable manner, the court said.

The court stated that a thorough and detailed investigation had been conducted and call record details, CCTV footage and location details were collected. The statements of two eyewitnesses were recorded before the magistrate, and recoveries were also made. The call record details indicated that the accused, including Pavithra, were in constant touch with each other, showing their complicity in the commission of the offence and their presence at the crime scene, the court added.

Referring to investigation papers produced by Special Public Prosecutor P Prasanna Kumar, the court stated the petitioner and accused No. 3 hatched a conspiracy to abduct the deceased in connivance with the other accused.

In the order rejecting the bail petition of Anukumar from Chitradurga, the court noted that there are serious allegations against him that he participated in the abduction of the deceased and had been assaulted. He was also involved in the extortion of a gold ring, gold chain, Karadika plus linga and a watch from the deceased, and took part in the disposal of the body. The FSL report disclosed that a blood sample of the deceased was found on the pants of the petitioner, the court said.

Darshan, others charged with kidnap, conspiracy

AS reported earlier, the chargesheet mentions that Pavithra, after receiving the messages, informed K Pawan alias Puttaswamy. After learning this from Puttaswamy, Darshan informed his fans' association president in Chitradurga, Raghavendra, to bring Renukaswamy to Bengaluru.

Darshan, Pavithra and 12 others have been charged with kidnapping, murder, conspiracy and destroying evidence. Darshan has also been accused of paying money to four of the accused to own responsibility for Renukaswamy's murder. The direct involvement of Nikhil Nayak, Keshavamurthy and Karthik, who had surrendered before Kamakshipalya police on June 10 claiming that they had murdered Renukaswamy over a financial dispute, has not been established. These three accused have been booked for attempting to destroy evidence by throwing Renukaswamy's body into a stormwater drain at Sumanahalli, tampering with evidence and providing false information to police.

Details of the megger device used to give electric shocks to Renukaswamy has been mentioned in the chargesheet. Among the accused, Dhanaraj alias Raju is said to have purchased the device, while S Nandeesh and Dhanaraj are alleged to have given electric shocks to Renukaswamy at the behest of V Vinay, owner of Stonny Brook pub in RR Nagar.

Details of the CCTV footage of the shed at Pattanagere, where the murder took place, have been included in the chargesheet. Statements of Pattanagere Jayanna, owner of the shed, and also of Vinay's uncle have been mentioned. A photograph of Renukaswamy pleading with the accused has been retrieved from Vinay's mobile phone.

The tower location of Pavithra's mobile phone that was active at the scene of the crime and pictures of Darshan coming out of the Stonny Brook pub have also been mentioned in the chargesheet. A detailed description of 39 injuries found on the victim's body during postmortem has also been included.

Kerala HC quashes rape case registered after 16-year delay

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

KERALA High Court observed that the allegation of rape made after 16 years is prima facie not believable because of the long delay and such relationship is to be considered as consensual.

Justice A Badharudeen issued t he order while quashing a rape case against Biju P Vidya of Pathanamthitta.

The court noted that the complainant alleged that the petitioner subjected her to rape in 2001, and the First Information Statement was given in 2017 only. According to the prosecution, the accused subjected the complainant, a married lady having a child, to rape in June-July, 2001.

The petitioner argued that the FIS was given on February 22, 2017, based on this, and an FIR was registered against four persons. Thereafter, three persons were excluded and a final report was filed against the petitioner alone. It was pointed out that 16 years of delay in disclosing the overt acts, where there is an allegation that the accused borrowed Rs 20 lakh during the relationship and failed to return the same, indicates that the relationship, if any, is the outcome of consent. The court said: "There is no proper explanation for the long delay. When the delay comes to 16 years in disclosing the same, after continuing the relationship for 16 years, the same is fatal and the same would stand in the way of prosecution since the possibility of false implication is very much discernible."

The court said the allegation of rape was raised with ulterior motives, particularly when money from the accused was allegedly due to the complainant. Now the complainant also has no grievance at present and she filed two affidavits stating that the issue has been settled.

Ground floor of premier Bidar govt hospital floods after rain

MARUTI BAVIDODDI @Bidar

HEAVY rain flooded the ground floor of Bidar institute of Medical Sciences (BRIMS) hospital building late on Tuesday, forcing the staff to shift emergency patients to the old, hundred-bed government hospital and six child patients to a private hospital. The shifting of patients that started on Tuesday night around 11 pm, continued till Wednesday evening. Hospital sources said it could go on for another day. Power for the entire building has been shut because of the fear of short-circuit, officials said.

When this correspondent visited, the entire hospital was in darkness. Relatives of patients said that despite it being dark because of lack of power supply, the treatment of patients continued.

Deputy Commissioner Shilpa Sharma told TNIE that two motors have been deployed by the fire brigade personnel to pump out water from the hospital building. BRIMS Director Dr Shivkumar Shetkar confirmed that the power supply has been cut for the entire building. BRIMS hospital, constructed at a cost of Rs 110 crore, was inaugurated in August 2017.

RESOLVE QUESTIONS ON CHIEF'S ACTIONS, RESTORE SEBI INTEGRITY

THE controversy swirling around the Securities and Exchange Board of India chairperson Madhabi Puri Buch refuses to die down. Over the last month, US-based Hindenburg Research has accused Madhabi Buch and her husband of using their holding stakes in layered offshore funds to invest in and boost the shares of Adani Group companies. There was also an allegation from a Congress spokesperson that she continued to draw a salary from ICICI Bank during her tenure at Sebi. As if this was not enough, Zee chairperson Subhash Chandra levelled charges of corruption against her; meanwhile, Sebi is investigating Zee for diversion of funds.

In response, the Puri Buch couple have said there is no conflict of interest and the investment in the fund referred to by Hindenburg was made in 2015, when they were private citizens living in Singapore. After Madhabi Buch became a whole-time director at Sebi, and after the fund manager friend who had managed their funds quit in 2018, they redeemed their investments. ICICI Bank has denied the Congress's allegations and said Madhabi Buch had received no remuneration after her retirement in 2013. However, there are other questions that need answers. For one, a Sebi board member has claimed Madhabi Buch did not recuse herself from the Adani investigation, though a release from the market regulator said she had "recused herself in matters involving potential conflicts of interest".

Again, Sebi issued a notice to Hindenburg in July for betting on the stocks it was attacking, but the notice was kept under wraps. It was Hindenburg that publicised Sebi's action. These and other loose ends have undermined the credibility of the regulator. Sebi is an autonomous, statutory body set up in 1992 to serve as a watchdog over the country's securities and commodities markets. The stakes are high— investors small and big trade shares worth thousands of crores of rupees every day. So it is imperative the market regulator acts as an independent referee with the courage to enforce rules. While governments come and go, autonomous bodies such as the Reserve Bank and Supreme Court must provide institutional continuity through their leadership. Sebi is one such body that has to work with bipartisan support. To restore public confidence, the furore around the Sebi chief needs to be closed as soon as possible.

BE PROACTIVE TO CURB DENGUE IN KARNATAKA

AN unprecedented surge in dengue cases has forced the Karnataka government to notify it as an epidemic under the amended Karnataka Epidemic Diseases Regulations, 2020. The state has witnessed 25,589 cases and 12 deaths so far this year, with 15,000 cases added in just 45 days. Declaring it an epidemic triggers stricter regulations and enforcement actions that would mitigate the prevalence and prevent a conflagration. But the government has largely put the onus on the people, though the authorities will be monitoring and enforcing the rules.

The dengue virus is transmitted to humans through bites from infected female mosquitoes, primarily the Aedes aegypti that breeds in stagnant water. The new regulations require people to prevent mosquito breeding by ensuring there is no stagnant water on their premises. Penalties for non-compliance are based on the type and location of the property. For households, the fines are ₹400 in urban areas and ₹200 in rural areas. Commercial establishments including offices, schools, colleges, healthcare facilities and hotels will face fines of ₹1,000 in urban areas and ₹500 in rural areas. Active or abandoned construction sites as well as vacant lands are subject to fines of ₹2,000 in urban areas and ₹1,000 in rural areas. Despite the seriousness of the situation, the fines are too low to act as deterrence against non-compliance, that too in a country where laws are hardly given a second look while ignoring or breaking them.

The need of the hour is to take proactive measures to ensure that dengue is put down in a fool-proof manner, not just levying fines for non-compliance that hardly would pinch most violators. The government needs to act against dengue and other vector-borne diseases in an aggressive manner, adopting a whole range of measures that can include roping in innovators developing mosquito lure-and-trap devices and using guppies that devour mosquito larvae in stagnant waters and drains. It's not just the disease prevalence and mortality that's worrisome. Research at Nanyang Technological University of Singapore has revealed that dengue survivors have a 55 percent higher risk of developing heart issues than those who recovered from Covid. Indian state governments need to remember that destiny is what we create for ourselves; fate kicks in when we fail to create our own destiny.

QUICK TAKE

SUPPORT TAMIL FISHERS

THERE is no end in sight to the saga of Sri Lankan authorities prosecuting fishers from Tamil Nadu. On Tuesday, a Lankan court slapped a fine of almost ₹1 crore on 12 Indian fishermen for breaching the maritime boundary in early August; if they fail to pay, they will be jailed for six months. Another case involving 10 fishers arrested in June will be heard in court next week. Over time, experts have suggested several steps to calm the perennially troubled waters. These fishers cannot afford to pay huge fines or stay off work for months. The Centre needs to help them legally for now and find a diplomatic solution for the longer term.

Three former kingdoms—Assam, Tripura and Manipur—are burdened with a tussle between identities past and present. Their aspirational middle classes may help bridge the divide

THE PECULIAR IDENTITY CRISES IN THE NORTHEAST

PRADIP PHANJOUBAM
Editor, Imphal Review of Arts and Politics

SOURAV ROY

IS identity primordial or is it a dynamic construct that's constantly evolving? The fact is, different identities are formed at different stages of history, but can there be anything as a primordial identity? Did the Chinese of today always consider themselves Chinese through the ages, or were Indians always Indians? Of course, if this timeline were to be pushed back far enough, all without exception were once unicellular amoebas living in ancient oceans.

This friction between constantly evolving identities, each presuming they were in existence from 'time immemorial', shows up in intriguing ways—even in many of the micro canvases of conflict in the Northeast. In 1929, when the Simon Commission visited Kohima, Naga leaders of the time presented a memorandum to the commission explaining why Nagas were not Indians. Interestingly, among the Naga leaders who signed the memorandum was a gentleman who is no longer considered a Naga, but is identified as a Kuki.

Similarly, in 1756, when King Alaumpaya of Ava (Burma), founder of the powerful Konbaung dynasty of 11 kings, raided Manipur to avenge past raids from this kingdom toppling his predecessor dynasty Toungoo, he brought along an interesting map of Manipur that showed two principalities, Moirang and Kangla. The former was marked as a friend and the latter as a foe. After the Burmese were repulsed, it was King Bhagyachandra who united the two principalities to ensure both ultimately acquired a common Meitei identity.

Such stories are aplenty in every community and all indicate there is nothing organic or intrinsic about identity. Its mystic is often compared to an onion that no doubt has a definite presence, but if anybody tries to find out what is at its core, the discovery will be of nothing inside.

Yet, the idea of community identity as primordial and not acquired cannot be dismissed easily, for the roots of many of the most bitter and violent conflicts history has seen stem from the imagination of exclusive and primordial community identities. Affiliation to a community identity, as Jolle Demmers quotes from several scholars and scientists, represents the individual's longing for permanence.

In the world of arts, few works have more convincingly portrayed the absurdity and uniqueness of racial and nationalistic identities than the French existentialist author Albert Camus. In his short story, The Guest, set against the backdrop of the Algerian resistance movement against French colonialism, he poignantly shows how.

A white school teacher, a Frenchman by ancestry but in every other sense a son of Algerian soil who even disowns the colonial French government's overtures to co-opt him in the fight to subdue local insurrections, discovers to his profound sorrow how unbridgeable the divide between the races is in a graffiti message on a school blackboard written by his own students issuing a veiled threat to him that all oppressors will soon be shown the door. The tragic reality of exclusionary nationalism could not have been told better.

Sudhir Kakar's Colours of Violence, in many ways, is an explanation of this divide. Kakar, who calls himself a "pragmatic liberal and an agnostic mystic", studies the phenomenon of communal riots in India between Hindus and Muslims. He comes to the conclusion that there is something much deeper and more fundamental in the identity divide than the usual explanation that these are a fallout of sinister machination of colonial politics. Why else would the identity divide persist among communities after generations of sharing and living together, as Camus shows in The Guest? Why would familial and social bonding remain after generations of separation and radically different social engineering as in the case of the East and West Germans, Kakar asks.

The multiplication of identity assertions in modern times also has to do with the democratisation of education, for it opened up the mental horizons of previously closed worlds of backward and illiterate ethnic communities whose social affiliations did not extend beyond clans and villages. Their awareness of themselves in relation to the new and larger world changed and the answer to the Hegelian question 'Who am I?' would have acquired new significance as well. New experiences, new visions, new vocabularies and a new understanding of the self would have deepened the query.

The problem is compounded. As the previously 'non-state-bearing populations', as James C Scott described them, wake up to the reality of nationhood, they invariably find themselves enclosed in previously formed national identities. This has been at the root of many insurgencies in the Northeast as also the competitive ethnic identity assertions, and with it, claims of ancestral territorial domains, imagined or otherwise, often leading to violent conflicts. Manipur is no stranger to this. The obvious challenge before India as well as almost all states of the Northeast is about how these multiplying identity affiliations are to be accommodated into a larger consensual identity.

Of the Northeast states, it is probably the three erstwhile kingdoms—Assam, Tripura and Manipur—that are burdened the most with this peculiar identity crisis. The problem is evident in the ambiguity in the answer to the question of who is an Assamese, Tripuri or Manipuri, for these identities generally point to their once-ruling communities, often at the neglect of the newly awakened identities within them. Their challenge, therefore, is to redefine their collective identity to make them consensual and representative.

Eric Hobsbawm in Fractured Times could not have said this better. In several of the essays in this collection, one idea recurs. German Jews before the second world war were eager to integrate with the German identity. However, they wanted to assimilate not with the German nation but with the German middle-class. Hobsbawm does not deny the importance of the power nationalism commands, nonetheless feels the need for its moderation.

The middle-class, which generally cuts across community lines, and is united by professional pursuits and driven by a desire for achievement and excellence, can be the hope in this project of striking a balance between nationalism and a consensual, constitutionally-determined identity even in the most diverse nations.

THE TEACHERS WE NEED FOR THE EDUCATION WE WANT

"What the teacher is, is more important than what he teaches."

—Karl Menninger

JAYANT CHAUDHARY
Union Minister of State (with independent charge) for Skill Development and Entrepreneurship, and Minister of State for Education

IN a country like India, with its vast education ecosystem and network, teacher education is like a big ship—it is hard to turn by design alone; persistence matters the most. As I reflect on my journey as minister of state for education, one thing stands clear: the heartbeat of our educational system lies in the dedication, resilience and passion of our teachers. Over the past few months, I've had the privilege to interact with many of these educators across the country, hearing first-hand about their journeys, challenges and their unwavering commitment to shaping the future of our nation.

Whether stationed far from home or facing professional or personal hardships, our teachers continue to give their all, ensuring that no child is left behind. The influence of a teacher on a child's life is deeply felt and profound. Children may not always heed the advice of their parents, but when a teacher speaks, they listen. They remember what their teachers say, sometimes even correcting their parents with the words, "But my teacher said…" Such is the trust and respect that students place in their educators.

India is in a fortunate position with a robust teacher population, setting it apart from many nations currently facing teacher shortages. This ample pool of educators provides a solid foundation for the country's educational system. However, challenges remain as some educators lack the essential qualities a teacher needs in this day and age, and others fall short in terms of the necessary skills to excel. We need to fill these gaps and we need to fill them fast.

In the past, teaching was often about delivering information in a standardised manner, with little room for creativity or individuality. Schools operated like factories, churning out students with the same knowledge and skills. But today, we recognise that education is not just about imparting knowledge; it's about nurturing the child, understanding their unique needs, and helping them develop into well-rounded individuals who can thrive in a complex world. Our curriculum—and consequently the pedagogy—should keep up as the pace of societal change accelerates.

Teachers of the future will need to be versatile, able to integrate art, sports, technology and traditional subjects in ways that make learning both joyful and meaningful. Most importantly, they will guide students not just in academics, but in life—helping them to become innovators, responsible citizens and compassionate human beings.

This is where the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 comes into the picture. The NEP redefines the teaching profession, emphasising the need for teachers who are not only knowledgeable and skilled but also motivated, compassionate and adaptable. Implementing such transformative changes across a diverse and resource-variable country like India is no small feat. However, through the collective efforts of policymakers, educators and communities, we are already seeing examples of success. In classrooms where NEP 2020 is being actively implemented, teachers are using innovative methods to make learning more meaningful and engaging, preparing students for the future.

EXPRESS

In classrooms where the National Education Policy 2020 is being implemented, teachers are using innovative methods to make learning more engaging, preparing students for the future. AI won't replace teachers. Teachers who embrace new tools will replace those who don't

Picture a teacher who not only masters his or her subject but also serves as a mentor, guide and friend, and sometimes even a superhero in the classroom. That is the vision we're striving for. Our initiatives such as the National Initiative for School Heads' and Teachers' Holistic Advancement or NISHTHA and the four-year Integrated Teacher Education Programme are designed so that our teachers are well-equipped to meet the challenges of contemporary education, while also fostering a love of learning they will pass on to their students. With the National Professional Standards for Teachers and the National Mission for Mentoring, we're empowering our educators to become superheroes in their own right.

The concept of a teacher itself is evolving with age. During my visit to the women-only National Skill Training Institute in Noida, I was amazed to see two young girls who had just completed their education and had developed a chatbot with the technical education they had received in artificial intelligence at the institute. These pioneering girls will now go on to teach and educate other young professionals around the country in these new-age skills. This evolution in the conception of a teacher is an exciting one for the future of our nation.

By embracing innovative strategies and adapting to evolving educational landscapes, educators can equip students with the skills necessary for success in an ever-changing world. Policymakers, educational institutions and teachers need to collaborate to ensure a seamless transition towards skill-based learning, empowering the next generation with the competencies needed to thrive both personally and professionally.

As we look to the future, it's important to remember that AI and other technologies will not replace teachers. Rather, teachers who embrace these tools will replace those who don't. The artists of the blackboard will evolve to become artists of the digital smartboard, shaping young minds with the same care and dedication, but with powerful new tools at their disposal.

This Teacher's Day, let us celebrate the incredible work our teachers do every day. The teachers we need for the education we want are already among us—they are dedicated, compassionate, and always striving to do better for their students. It is our responsibility to support them, to listen to them and to ensure that they have the resources and recognition they deserve.

Justice delayed

Ref: Charging Tytler for Delhi anti-Sikh riots a long-delayed step (Sep 4). The sentencing of Jagdish Tytler raises a critical question: is this truly justice for the Sikh families who suffered the loss of their loved ones during the riots? The passage of 40 years is significant, as Tytler is now 80 years old, and yet the judicial process remains incomplete. One wonders how much solace the victims of the riots and families get from this late decision.

Peace deal with Tripura insurgent groups signed

Home minister promises to follow the pact by 'full stop and comma'

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah on Wednesday assured rebel groups National Liberation Front of Tripura (NLFT) and All Tripura Tiger Force (ATTF) that the government would follow the tripartite peace agreement signed with them by every word.

At a function at Delhi's North Block, where the peace deal was signed among the Centre, the government of Tripura, and the two rebel groups, Shah said, "We will follow the deal by full stop and comma."

Further asserting that the government is committed to the all-round development of the northeastern region, especially tribals, while preserving their culture, language and identity, Shah said that Prime Minister Narendra Modi has not only bridged the gap between the Northeast and Delhi by connecting them through roads, railways and flights, but also by bridging the gap between hearts. He said that with the signing of the peace agreement, a new milestone is set in Tripura's journey towards peace and progress.

Tripura Chief Minister Manik Saha and senior officials of the Union home ministry and the state government were present during the signing of the Memorandum of Settlement with the NLFT and ATTF representatives.

The NLFT and the ATTF have agreed to end 35-year-long conflict and return to the mainstream, renouncing violence and committing to building a prosperous and developed Tripura, and reposing their trust in the Modi government, Shah noted.

"The government is committed for the overall development of the Northeast, especially the tribal groups, through development, while preserving their culture, language and identity," Shah said, adding that it has given highest priority to peace and development in the region, signed several peace agreements, and implemented them in letter and spirit.

He said the government has signed 12 important agreements to bring peace and prosperity in the Northeast, of which three relate to Tripura. Around 10,000 people have given up arms and joined the mainstream due to these agreements, he added.

Shah said more than 328 insurgents will give up arms and join the mainstream. He added that ₹250 crore has been approved for development of the area of operation of the two insurgent groups, especially the pockets dominated by tribals.

Rahul guarantee on J&K statehood in election rallies

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

LAUNCHING his party's poll campaign in Jammu and Kashmir, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Wednesday assured people that statehood would be restored to the Union Territory (UT).

"It is my guarantee that either this Modi government will restore the statehood or the next Central government, which will be of the INDIA bloc," Rahul said while addressing a poll rally in Anantnag district of south Kashmir.

"After India's independence in 1947, UTs were made into states and states were divided to create more states. However, it is for first time in India's history that a state was converted into a UT," said the Leader of Opposition.

He said when a UT is converted into a state or a state is divided into more states, democracy is strengthened. "When a state is converted into a UT, rights of people are snatched. And this injustice has been done with J&K."

On August 5, 2019, the Centre scrapped Article 370 and bifurcated the Jammu and Kashmir state into two UTs. Assembly polls will be held in the UT in three phases, starting September 18.

Addressing another rally in Banihal, Gandhi said that not only the rights of J&K people were snatched but also their wealth. "It is being said that L-G is running J&K. He is the 21st century king," he said, adding that J&K people are neither getting employment nor benefits. "The king is giving benefits to people from outside. Contracts are being given to outsiders connected with BJP and RSS," Gandhi said.

Former militants campaigning for NC, PDP, says BJP

I have information that ex-militants are openly campaigning for NC and PDP. People will have to defeat the parties who want to take J&K back to its bad days

Ram Madhav, BJP leader

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

BJP national general secretary Ram Madhav on Wednesday alleged that former militants are openly campaigning for the National Conference (NC) and the People's Democratic Party (PDP) in the Assembly polls in J&K, saying the two parties want to take the Union Territory back to its "trouble-filled days".

Referring to the Abdullahs and Muftis, Madhav, BJP's election in-charge for J&K, said the two families need to be shown the door. "I have information that ex-militants are openly campaigning for NC and PDP. People will have to defeat the parties who want to take J&K back to its bad days. We hope new leadership and new parties will emerge, who won't support militancy and will work for the development of J&K," Madhav told reporters. His allegations come after senior separatist leader Saleem Geelani recently joined the PDP.

Referring to NC and PDP manifestos, which call for restoration of Article 370, he said, "I want to tell people that these parties want to push back J&K to old times. People of J&K want new leadership and young faces are coming to the front in large numbers. We should encourage the youth to get rid of two dynastic families in J&K."

He said BJP would emerge as a single largest party in the assembly polls.

Madhav was the architect of formation of PDP-BJP coalition government after 2014 hung assembly polls. BJP general secretary (organisation) Ashok Koul said home minister Amit Shah would release the party manifesto on September 6.

Kharge lashes out at govt for 'miserably failing' to protect Manipur people

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

WITH Manipur being rocked by a fresh wave of violence, Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge on Wednesday lashed out at the Modi government for "miserably failing" to protect the people of Manipur.

Criticising the government, Kharge said that the turmoil in the state is another stark addition to the long list of his "betrayals" of the people of India.

In a post on X, Kharge said bombing through drone attacks has taken place in Imphal West district, and Union Home Minister Amit Shah "seems to be asleep at the wheel".

Ethnic clashes between the Meitei and Kuki communities have claimed more than 200 lives in Manipur since May last year. "Even your own BJP leaders and their houses are being attacked. Was the Governor removed because she raised her voice against the deplorable conditions of the relief camps?" the Congress chief asked.

He alleged that it has been 16 months since Manipur has been engulfed in violence, but the BJP's 'double engine' government has done nothing to mitigate it. "Why has the Manipur CM N Biren Singh made to brazen it out and has not been sacked? Is he not culpable in virtually paralysing the state machinery, and making obnoxious statements, now recorded in public domain?" he asked.

Trade resumes via Benapol route amid strain in Indo-Bangla ties

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

A month after normalcy was affected and life thrown out of gear in Bangladesh, forcing former Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina to flee the country, students have called for a 'Shaheedi march' on Thursday to commemorate the martyrdom of those who died in the process.

Even though India-Bangladesh bilateral ties are not yet established, trade between the two countries resumed on Wednesday. "After 47 days of uncertainty due to violence, trade between India and Bangladesh has resumed through land port Benapol. Traders from Bangladesh have welcomed the move as there was a shortage of supplies, inflation was high and loss of livelihood," said a source from Dhaka.

Though there is no official word on the resumption of trade with Bangladesh from India, it appears to be the only affirmative news last month.

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar had recently said Bangladesh was going through a change with the new government and its relation with India would fructify with time, on the lines of Maldives.

Meanwhile, ongoing India-led projects in Bangladesh have been stalled for now. While sources in Bangladesh say that this could be long-term, India is optimistic it would fall in place and resume in due course.

There has been an economic slowdown, workers have been protesting for increase in emoluments, which has led to many industries being shut.

Projects stalled

The ongoing India-led projects in Bangladesh are stalled for now. Sources in Bangladesh say that this could be long-term, India is optimistic that it would fall in place in due course of time. There has been an economic slowdown, workers have been protesting for an increase in emoluments which has led to many industries being shut down in Bangladesh.

"Nearly 60 garment manufacturing units have been shut down as protests and clashes continue. Today there were clashes between two groups of students in two different colleges, which left 150 of them injured. There was a gunfight at Geneva camp (where stranded Pakistanis or Biharis live) which has left one dead. It is a long road ahead to normalcy," said Prof Nazmul Ahsan Kalimullah, a political commentator from Dhaka.

While political turmoil continues, with journalists being rounded up and framed in a bid to control them, it is a long way ahead for things to settle down in Bangladesh.

Meanwhile, two more murder cases have been filed against Sheikh Hasina, taking the total number of cases to 94, reports said on Wednesday.

The 76-year-old Awami League leader has had a slew of cases filed against her mostly for murders during the mass student protests against a controversial quota system in government jobs. Hasina is now facing at least 94 cases.

Army mulls policy to keep Chinese products at bay as fear of data theft looms

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE Indian Army and the Department of Defence Production are discussing ways to keep the equipment being inducted into the Army free of Chinese electronic parts. A methodology is being worked out, sources said.

Additional Director General of Army Design Bureau, Major General CS Mann, on Wednesday said that talks were on both in the service and at the department of defence production. Without committing any timeline, he said that "appropriate methodology of ascertaining this particular aspect will come into effect soon."

"It is a live issue and the government has also taken some actions recently. There are methods to identify Chinese equipment and we don't permit them to be part of Army equipment," said Mann.

He was speaking at the curtain raiser of two upcoming events of the Army — 'Him-Drone-A-Thon 2' and 'Himtech-2024'. These are events designed to harness military technologies for operations in high altitude areas.

The events will be held in Leh under the Northern Command to give the feel of the high altitude and its peculiarities.

Mann said that the potential threat paused by the Chinese electronic parts is on data privacy. "And anything that can be done with data remotely is where the vulnerability lies," he said. Recently the Army put on hold a contract with a drone company using Chinese components.

Mann's view was shared by Ashish Kansal, co-chair of FICCI drones committee, who said the supply chains are dependent on Chinese components. "Industry is making conscious efforts to make sure no electronic component from China is part of any systems. However, China is part of the global supply chain today," he said.

SC raps Dhami over appointment of IFS official

SUCHITRA K MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday questioned Uttarakhand Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami's decision to appoint IFS (Indian Forest Service) officer Rahul as the director of Rajaji Tiger Reserve. Rahul was removed from Corbett Tiger Reserve over allegations of illegal tree-cutting.

"We are not in a feudal era jahan jo bhi raja bole... (We are not in a feudal era where whatever the king says stays). At least there should have been some application of mind with reasons in writing, when he (Dhami) differed from his minister and chief secretary. Just because he is the Chief Minister, can he do anything? Either that officer should be exonerated or the departmental proceedings be dropped. There is something called public trust doctrine," a three-judge bench, led by Justice BR Gavai, remarked, while hearing about illegal constructions and tree felling at the Jim Corbett National Park.

Despite departmental proceedings pending against Rahul, the IFS officer was appointed as Rajaji National Park director, the court was told.

Commenting on the decision of the Uttarakhand CM, the apex court observed that Dhami had gone against everyone's advice and he did not consider objections. "He (the CM) has to give reasons why (Rahul was appointed)? He is ignoring everything. He has to explain why he disagrees with the bureaucrat and the forest minister?" the apex court asserted.

From the deputy secretary, everyone pointed out that the departmental proceedings have been initiated against Rahul and an inquiry is underway, it added.

PIL seeks to halt India's arms supply to Israel

SUCHITRA K MOHANTY @ New Delhi

A Public Interest Litigation (PIL) has been filed in the Supreme Court seeking a direction to the Centre to cancel licences and not to grant new ones to Indian firms exporting arms and other military equipment to Israel, which is fighting a war in Gaza.

Filed through lawyer Prashant Bhushan, the PIL has made the defence ministry a party. "India is bound by international laws and treaties that obligate it not to supply military weapons to States guilty of war crimes, as this could be used in violation of international humanitarian law," it said.

The plea by 11 people said that supply of military equipment to Israel by firms under the MoD violates India's obligations under international law, as well as Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution.

Govt nod to new eye drops that can remove reading glasses in 15 minutes

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

INDIA'S drug regulatory body Drug Controller General of India has approved a new treatment designed to eliminate the need for reading glasses for millions of people suffering from presbyopia, a common age-related vision ailment that impacts those aged above 40.

The Mumbai-based Entod Pharmaceuticals has developed PresVu Eye Drops, aimed at treating this age-related vision condition, which affects between 1.09 billion and 1.80 billion people worldwide.

Presbyopia has long been managed with reading glasses, contact lenses and surgical interventions, but now the eye drop offers an advanced alternative that augments near vision within 15 minutes.

Presvu has also applied for a patent for this invention in terms of its formulation and the process. The proprietary formula not only gets rid of reading glasses but also helps lubricate the eyes as a side benefit.

These eye drops utilise advanced dynamic buffer technology to swiftly adapt to tear pH, ensuring consistent efficacy and safety for extended use, keeping in mind that such drops will be used for years at a stretch, the pharma firm said.

Presbyopia occurs as a natural consequence of aging when the eye's ability to focus diminishes, leading to difficulty in focusing on close objects. This can significantly impact a person's quality of life.

For patients with presbyopia, the eye drop offers a non-invasive option that can enhance near vision without the need for reading glasses.

"PresVu is the result of years of dedicated research and development. This DCGI approval is a major step forward in our mission to transform eye care in India," said Nikkhil K Masurkar, CEO, Entod Pharmaceuticals.

"This new option is set to greatly improve the quality of life for many. It's important to monitor symptoms and seek medical advice if blurry close-up vision interferes with reading," the statement said.

CITY OF JOY WRAPPED IN BLANKET OF DARKNESS

All lights at Raj Bhawan, Victoria Memorial Hall switched off following a call by protestors against medico's rape-murder

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kolkata

LESS than a month after a medico's brutal rape and murder at RG Kar Medical College and Hospital, protests by junior doctors demanding action in the case have only spiraled. On Wednesday, Kolkata appeared wrapped in a blanket of darkness as thousands of people spontaneously switched off their lights from 9 to 10 pm as a symbol of rising frustration over the government's failure to bring the culprits to justice. The City of Joy's iconic Victoria Memorial Hall was bereft of illumination.

Lights at West Bengal's Raj Bhawan were also switched off. "The Governor directs the CM to take convincing steps to assuage the sentiments of the people of Bengal who are agitated over the RG Kar Hospital horror and maintain law and order in the state offering protection and security to the women. Enough is enough," a statement from Raj Bhawan said.

Hundreds of junior doctors held a candle march near Lalbazaar, where the Kolkata Police headquarters is located and shouted slogans demanding justice for the victim.

Echoing the 'Reclaim the Night' movement of August 14 midnight, people assembled at various places such as New Town's Biswa Bangla Gate, Shyambazar, Sinthir More, Sodpur Traffic More, Hazra More, Jadavpur 8B bus stand, Lake Gardens, and Behala Sakher Bazar to demand justice.

The victim's father thanked people across India again for coming together, but he posed several questions. "The state government took responsibility for conducting the last rites of my daughter. Can't we have money to conduct my daughter's last rites? We were informed after conducting her last rites," he said.

People sang Kazi Nazrul Islam's revolutionary song 'Karar Oi Louho Kapat, Bhenge Phel Korre Lopat' (let's unshackle the iron grill) to press for the cause.

Film personalities Swastika Mukherjee and Sohini Sarkar joined gatherings at Golf Green and Shyambazar, respectively, supporting the call for justice and freedom from oppression.

Ghosh moves SC, says not heard before case handed over to CBI

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

TWO days after the CBI arrested him for his alleged role in financial irregularities at RG Kar College and Hospital, its former principal Sandip Ghosh moved the Supreme Court, arguing that the Calcutta HC did not hear his side before passing the order of handing over the investigation to the CBI.

According to the Supreme Court cause-list, a three-judge bench led by the CJI DY Chandrachud and Justices JB Pardiwala and Manoj Misra are to hear Ghosh's plea on September 6.

Ghosh faces serious allegations of financial and administrative misconduct and handling the medico's rape and murder case. The former principal also said that the HC made a comment linking the incident of rape in the hospital to corruption "unnecessarily, and without any basis and substance."

The high court in its order on August 23 directed for a CBI probe into the alleged corruption charges against Ghosh. Prima facie, the court said serious violations and irregularities seemed to have been committed by Ghosh. It directed that a single agency should handle and probe the allegations against him.

The SC bench, which had earlier taken suo motu cognisance of the horrific incident, had slammed the delay in the registration of the FIR and inconsistencies in the timings of the entries in the victim's death.

The CBI in its status report filed before the Supreme Court said that the crime scene, at the RG Kar Medical and College Hospital, was altered: initially the state police told the parents that it was a suicide, but later said it was a murder.

The apex court questioned the sequence and timing of legal formalities conducted by the police, as it said it was surprising that the postmortem of the deceased was conducted on August 9 between 6.10 pm and 7.10 pm before the registrating the case as unnatural death.

Ghosh has approached the apex court against the high court's August 23 order.

Centre seeks report from states & UTs on security

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

THE Centre has asked the states and union territories to submit an action taken report by September 10 on the immediate measures taken to provide security to doctors and healthcare workers.

In a letter to all the states' chief secretaries and DGPs, Union Health Secretary Apurva Chandra suggested 11 measures for safeguarding doctors and healthcare workers.

These measures include identifying high-risk establishments, focusing on high-risk areas, installing CCTVs, integrating with local police and employing ex-servicemen in high-risk areas of the hospitals. He also suggested that security committees should be constituted, security audits conducted, patient facilitators and trained manpower hired at help desks to guide patients through hospital systems and processes, and proper training and establishment of bereavement protocols for all doctors and healthcare workers to handle intense and emotional grief situations be provided.

The letter, dated September 3, came after the SC on August 22 directed the Centre to hold a meeting with secretaries and Director General of Police to ensure that the states put into place certain minimum requirements pending the receipt of the report of the National Task Force to assuage the doctors' concerns on safety.

Ex-principal used to take 'cut money' for tenders

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @Kolkata

THE CBI, in its ongoing investigations into the alleged financial irregularities at the RG Kar Medical College and Hospital involving Dr Sandip Ghosh, on Wednesday stated that the former principal had reportedly taken a cut of 20-30% for every illegal tender he awarded to vendors.

As Ghosh arrived at the Alipore court on Wednesday, he was greeted with a chorus of "Dhikdhik dhikkar (shame! shame!)" and "chor chor" from the demonstrators gathered there. The CBI quickly escorted him and the others into the courtroom, shutting the main entrance to prevent protesters from storming in.

However, inside the courtroom, a group of women lawyers verbally abused Ghosh while one of them slapped him. Notably, the former principal flouted norms to award tenders to the vendors Biplav Singha and Suman Hazra, who the CBI arrested along with Ghosh.

Sources in the probe agency said that earlier, Ghosh used to charge 40% commission for transfer, posting, and providing pass marks to non-qualified medical students. But later, he brought it down to 10% as the racket of doctors for illegal transfer posting has increased in recent years, and the commission was being distributed among too many doctors.

Dr Abhik Ghosh, a doctors at North Bengal Medical College and Hospital, is said to be one of the leaders running illegal racket of transfer and posting.

CONG TICKETS FOR PHOGAT, PUNIA?

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chandigarh / New Delhi

Vinesh Phogat, Bajrang Punia

WRESTLERS Vinesh Phogat and Bajrang Punia on Thursday met Congress leader Rahul Gandhi in Delhi amid speculation that the duo might be given party tickets to fight in the upcoming assembly polls in Haryana. According to sources, Phogat might fight from either Julana in Jind or Charkhi Dadri, while Punia might be fielded from the Badli constituency in Jhajjar district.

Deepak Babaria, AICC general secretary in-charge for Haryana, said clarity will emerge in one or two days whether both sportspersons will be given Congress tickets. "I don't know what discussions they had with K C Venugopal. But whatever a solution comes out, it will be acceptable to everyone. The ultimate goal is to defeat the BJP. If possible, they would contest elections," he said.

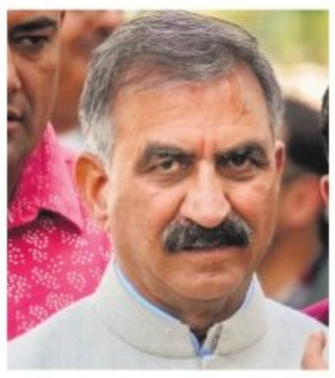
Sources in Delhi said Phogat is likely to get ticket, while Punia may be rewarded in some other way. An announcement is likely on Thursday.

It is learnt that by roping in high-profile sports personalities, the Congress wants to strengthen its position among voters in the Jat land state. Phogat has been supporting the farmers' cause. She recently met the protesting farmers at the Shambhu border, describing herself as "your daughter".

Assembly elections are scheduled to be held in Haryana on October 5.

Himachal House clears bill to stop pension for disqualified members

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh



THE Himachal Pradesh Assembly on Wednesday passed a Bill which will bar members of the House disqualified under the anti-defection law from drawing pension. The Himachal Pradesh Legislative Assembly (Allowances and Pension of Members) Amendment Bill, 2024, tabled in the House by chief minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu, aims to discourage MLAs from defection.

"A person shall not be entitled for pension under the Act, if he has been disqualified at any point of time under the tenth schedule of the Constitution (anti-defecation law)," Sukhu said while tabling the Bill, which includes provisions for recovery of pensions already drawn by disqualified MLAs.

The statement of object and reasons of the proposed amendment states the bill was needed as "there was no provision in the 1971 Act to discourage the defection of members, deter them from committing constitutional sins, protect the mandate given by people and preserve democratic values."

As per section 6B of the Act every MLA who has served any period up to five years is entitled to pension of ₹36,000 per month. The six former MLAs who will be impacted due to the Bill are Sudhir Sharma, Ravi Thakur, Rajinder Rana, Inder Dutt Lakhanpal, Chetanya Sharma and Devinder Kumar. They were disqualified in February this year under the anti-defection law. The MLAs had voted in favour of BJP nominee Harsh Mahajan in the Rajya Sabha elections.

The opposition BJP objected to the Bill stating that it smacks of "political revenge" and it cannot be implemented with retrospective effect.

Replying to discussion on the Bill, CM Sukhu said, "Six Congress MLAs betrayed the Congress party and the Bill is aimed at strengthening the democratic values and deter the MLAs from defection." Rakesh Jamwal (BJP) said the Bill has been brought in a haste and asked how it can be implemented retrospectively.

CM: Salary on Sept 5, pension on Sept 10

Sukhu defended late payment of salary and pension while announcing in the Assembly that salary will be disbursed on September 5 and pension on September 10. The main reason for deferring payment is that the government is mapping expenditure and receipts for utilisation of resources in a prudent manner.

Maha formula as Sharad says party winning most seats can claim CM's post

SUDHUR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

NCP (SP) chief Sharad Pawar on Wednesday said there is no need for the Maha Vikas Aghadi to declare a chief ministerial face ahead of the state assembly elections, suggesting that the decision on who will be the chief minister can be made after the poll results.

The statement comes amid the insistence by Shiv Sena (UBT) to declare Uddhav Thackeray as MVA's chief ministerial face.

"There is no need to discuss the face of the chief minister now. Let the elections take place, then we can discuss it. The numbers are important to make the chief minister post," Pawar told reporters. giving the example of 1977 Lok Sabha elections in which the Opposition had no prime ministerial face, but after the results, Morarji Desai was chosen the PM.

The chief ministerial candidate will be decided on the basis of which party wins the most number of seats in the alliance, he said. "Our aim is to give a stable government," the former union minister said. Pawar said he will want the MVA to complete the seat sharing process and start the poll campaign at the earliest.

Maharashtra Congress president Nana Patole said, "In alliance governments, the support of MLAs is most important for choosing the chief minister. After the elections, all partners of the MVA will sit together and the party that won the highest number of seats will get this post." Meanwhile, NCP Lok Sabha MP Supriya Sule said, "I have no issue with Thackeray as CM of MVA; the only condition is that he should not surrender before Delhi and should protect state's interest. He can easily fit the criteria."

Congress panel to decide Ripun's fate

The Congress' central leadership will decide on Ripun Bora's return to the party, its Assam unit chief Bhupen Kumar Borah said. Ripun, who was Trinamool Congress' Assam unit president, resigned from the party recently. He had stated that issues, including the perception that the TMC is a regional party of West Bengal, hindered its progress in Assam. Ripun is a former minister and former president of Assam Congress. He has given enough indications that he would like to return to the Congress. Recently, he said, "Congress is my old home". However, Bhupen said it is up to committee to take a call.

Himanta govt fulfils major poll promise

The Himanta Biswa Sarma-led Assam government fulfilled a key poll promise of the BJP when appointment letters were distributed to 23,959 contractual and state pool teachers of upper and lower primary schools. Ahead of the 2021 Assembly elections, the BJP had promised to give jobs to 1 lakh youth. The government has given employment to 1,24,345 so far. While distributing the appointment letters, Sarma said the state fulfilled a longstanding demand. He said this "robust" recruitment effort highlighted government's dedication to enhancing opportunities.

Lifetime experience for wildlife enthusiasts

Wildlife enthusiasts had a lifetime experience when they could observe majestic amphibians and reptiles up close in their natural habitat at a herpetofauna-watching event organised by biodiversity organisation Aaranyak in the Karbi Hills of Assam recently. The participants practiced the identification techniques, noting distinguishing features, colors, and behaviours of the creatures – various species of frogs, toads, and reptiles native to the Karbi Hills. Dr Jayanta Kr Roy, a wildlife biologist in Aaranyak, introduced participants to the basic identification techniques. They ventured into the forest to look for amphibians and reptiles.

Zelenskyy rejigs govt, 5 cabinet ministers resign

Need new energy, says Ukrainian president as war drags on; Russian strike kills 7 including children in western city of Lviv

KYIV

RUSSIA struck the city of Lviv in western Ukraine on Wednesday, killing seven people, including children, and damaging historical buildings in a rare attack hundreds of kilometres from the frontline.

The strike came as several Ukrainian ministers, including top diplomat Dmytro Kuleba, offered their resignations, part of a reshuffle President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said would bring "new energy" to the government.

Russia has stepped up its aerial attacks on Ukraine since Kyiv launched an unprecedented cross-border offensive into Russia's Kursk region last month. Among the dead in Lviv were four people from one family, a woman and her three daughters, leaving their father as the only immediate survivor.

The city's mayor said the missile attack also wounded 64 people and damaged schools and medical facilities as well as buildings in Lviv's historic centre. "We will not forgive the enemy and will take revenge. They will feel what hell is like while they are still alive," Mayor Andriy Sadovyi said on Telegram.

The western city, whose old town is a UNESCO World Heritage site, is close to the border with Poland and is sheltering thousands displaced by over two years of war.

It had largely been spared the intense strikes that have rocked cities further east.

The strike came a day after a Russian missile attack killed 53 people in the central city of Poltava, one of the deadliest single strikes of the invasion.

Both attacks triggered renewed calls from Kyiv for more Western air defences.

"I heard terrible inhuman screams saying 'Save us'," said Yelyzaveta, a 27-year-old resident of Lviv who rushed to shelter in her basement.

Others like Anastasia Grynko, an internally displaced person from Dnipro, did not have time to reach a shelter. "The rocket hit our house. Everything was blown away. At the time of the explosion, I was somehow miraculously in the corridor, so I was not badly hurt," she said.

Zelenskyy denounced what he called "Russian terrorist strikes on Ukrainian cities".

The attack on Lviv was part of a wider barrage against Ukraine, with 13 missiles and 29 drones launched at the war-torn country, the air force said. The air force said it downed seven missiles and 22 drones.

Hit West Bank with full force: Israel min

JENIN

ISRAELI Defence Minister Yoav Gallant on Wednesday said the military should use its "full strength" to strike at Palestinian militants in the occupied West Bank, where a sweeping military operation has killed dozens.

"In the face of the resurgence of terrorism, we are eradicating terrorist organisations throughout Judea and Samaria," Gallant said in a statement issued by his ministry.

"These terrorist organisations that have various names, whether in Nur al-Shams, Tulkarem, Faraa or Jenin, must be wiped out," he said, referring to cities and refugee camps where an Israeli military operation is currently underway. "Every terrorist must be eliminated, and if they surrender, they must be arrested. There is no other option, use all the forces, everyone who is needed, with full strength."

Gallant, speaking after meeting officers to assess the operation, compared the campaign against the militants to "mowing" a lawn. "Essentially, we are mowing the grass, but the time will come when we will also uproot the roots, and that must be done," he said. The Israeli defence minister said he had ordered the military to carry out air strikes "wherever necessary" in order to "avoid endangering soldiers". On August 28, Israeli forces launched simultaneous raids across the northern West Bank cities of Jenin, Tubas and Tulkarem.

The raids have so far left dead at least 30 Palestinians, including militants, and wounded 140, according to the Ramallah-based Palestinian health ministry. Nineteen have been killed in Jenin governorate, seven in Tulkarem and four in Tubas, it said. In recent days, the focus of Israeli raids has been in and around Jenin city.

On Wednesday, an AFP journalist in Jenin saw empty streets, with residents leaving their homes only to purchase necessities. The streets were strewn with the rubble of overturned asphalt as armoured military vehicles rumbled past. Jenin and its adjacent refugee camp — where army bulldozers destroyed infrastructure — have long been a bastion of Palestinian armed groups fighting against Israel, which has occupied the West Bank since 1967.

The military carries out regular incursions into Palestinian population centres, but such operations are rarely conducted simultaneously as in the northern West Bank since last week. AFP

US SANCTIONS ON RUSSIA'S RT OVER 'INFLUENCE CAMPAIGN'

WASHINGTON

THE Biden administration accused Russia on Wednesday of a far-reaching effort to influence the US presidential election, including by promoting disinformation and enlisting unwitting American influencers to spread propaganda on Russian state media.

The actions taken by the US government include sanctions against leaders of RT, a state media organisation that was forced by the Justice Department to register as a foreign agent, as well as visa restrictions.

Intelligence agencies have previously charged that Russia was using disinformation to try to interfere in the election. But the anticipated announcement from Attorney General Merrick Garland is expected to show the depth of US concerns and signal legal actions against those suspected of being involved.

Garland and other law enforcement leaders are expected to speak briefly at the opening of a meeting of the Justice Department's elections threats task force.

In a speech last month, Deputy Attorney General Lisa Monaco said Russia was the primary threat to the election, even as Iran raised alarm this summer for a hack of Donald Trump's campaign and an attempted breach of the then-Joe Biden-Kamala Harris campaign.

Russian President Vladimir Putin and "his proxies are using increasingly sophisticated techniques in their interference operations. They're targeting specific voter demographics and swing-state voters to manipulate presidential and congressional election outcomes," she said. AP

Four killed, 9 injured in shooting at high school in US state of Georgia

WINDER

THE Georgia Bureau of Investigation said on Wednesday that four people were killed and at least nine were injured in a shooting at a high school outside of Atlanta.

Students scrambled for shelter in the football stadium as officers swarmed the campus and parents raced to find out if their children were safe. A suspect was in custody, authorities said.

"What you see behind us is an evil thing," Barrow County Sheriff Jud Smith said at a brief news conference outside Apalachee High School. He declined to give details about casualties, or about the suspect.

Jacob King, a sophomore football player, said he had dozed off in his world history class after a morning practice when he heard about 10 gunshots.

King said he didn't believe the shooting was real until he heard an officer yelling at someone to put down their gun. King said when his class was led out, he saw officers shielding what appeared to be an injured student.

Helicopter video from WSB-TV showed dozens of law enforcement and emergency vehicles surrounding the school in Barrow County, about 80 kilometers northeast of Atlanta.

When Erin Clark, 42, received a text from her son Ethan, a senior at the high school, that there was an active shooter, she rushed from her job at the Amazon warehouse to the school. The two texted "I love you," and Clark said she prayed for her son as she drove to the high school.

With the main road blocked to the school, Clark parked and ran with other parents. Parents were then directed to the football field. Amid the chaos, Clark found Ethan sitting on the bleachers. Traffic going to the school was backed up for more than a mile as parents tried to get to their children there. AP

JUNTA-LINKED PARTY DROPPED FROM CABINET

Thailand's new prime minister named her cabinet on Wednesday, dumping an influential military-linked party out of government for the first time since 2019. King Maha Vajiralongkorn officially endorsed the new team of ministers nominated by Prime Minister Paetongtarn Shinawatra of the Pheu Thai party, and she is expected to present her policy platform to parliament next week. Paetongtarn, daughter of ex-PM Thaksin Shinawatra, was chosen as premier last month after a court ruling ousted her predecessor over an ethics case.

Turkiye has applied to join BRICS, says Russian official

MOSCOW

NATO member Turkiye has applied for membership in the BRICS bloc of developing economies, a senior Kremlin official said Wednesday, as Russia and China seek to counter the West's global influence. Yuri Ushakov, President Vladimir Putin's foreign affairs aide, told reporters that Turkiye has submitted an application 'for full membership' in the bloc that Russia this year chairs, and it will be considered. Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan has stated several times that his country aspires to become a member of the BRICS alliance, according to Omer Celik, a spokesman for Erdogan's ruling party. But Celik stopped short this week of confirming that Turkiye has applied formally.

BRICS was founded in 2006 by Brazil, Russia, India and China, with South Africa joining in 2010. It recently has undergone an expansion, and now includes Iran, Egypt, Ethiopia and the United Arab Emirates. Saudi Arabia has said it's considering joining, and Azerbaijan and Malaysia have formally applied. AFP

Sebi Employees Association recently cited lack of respect, mistrust shown at the highest level towards employees

Sebi denies toxic work culture allegations

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

MARKETS regulator Sebi on Wednesday issued a statement denying the allegations of 'toxic work culture' within the organisation that some of its senior employees have made to finance ministry.

The regulator said these officials are misguided by external elements to target credibility of Sebi and its leadership. "Sebi apprehends that the junior officers have been receiving messages from external elements outside their group, instigating them to ... go to media, go to the ministry, go to the board ... perhaps to serve their own purpose."

"In fact, the letter of August 6, 2024, was not sent by the Sebi employee associations to the government and a section of the media. It was an anonymous email that was sent, and officers and associations have themselves condemned it and communicated the same to HRD through emails."

Terming the media report on September 4, it said the HRA issues are the result of staff misguided by external elements. Among the numerous other benefits, Sebi employees were demanding 55% increase in house rent allowance (HRA) over the allowance set in 2023, it said.

"Sebi officers are well-paid, and for entry-level officers at Grade A, the cost to company is ₹34 lakh per annum, which compares favourably even with the corporate sector. The new demands placed by them would amount to an additional CTC of ₹6 lakh per annum," Sebi said. On the problems raised against updation of Sebi's automated management information system (MIS) for key result areas (KRAs) and the 15-minute silent protest against this last month, the statement said this was introduced to bring transparency and timely delivery of regulatory views.

In their purported letter to the ministry, Sebi Employees Association had cited lack of respect and mistrust shown at the highest level towards employees is the core problem and thus the main reason for their public outburst.

"It's not a secret that gradually over past two-three years, fear has become primary driving force in Sebi. Unprofessional language is casually used by the people at the highest level. Shouting, scolding and public humiliation have become the norm in official meetings."

The Sebi said a group of employees have consciously designed a strategy to change the narrative to frame the issue as relating to work environment, with an objective to have bargaining power to seek more benefits. A letter focused on "work culture" was crafted and sent to HRD on August 6, 2024. A mail from A-C grades officers on August 9 said "we condemn such email and any media leaks in strongest terms. It appears that someone is trying to further his/her personal agenda. We disassociate ourselves from any such attempts.

Officials designed strategy to change narrative

The Sebi said a group of employees have consciously designed a strategy to change the narrative to frame the issue as relating to work environment, with an objective to have bargaining power to seek more benefits. Among the numerous other benefits, Sebi employees were demanding 55% increase in HRA) over the allowance set in 2023, it said.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Bengaluru bench of the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) has deferred its decision on a petition by US-based lender Glast Trust that seeks a stay on further meetings of the committee of creditors (CoC).

Glas Trust has been removed from the CoC by Pankaj Srivastava, interim resolution professional. The steering committee of the ad-hoc group of term loan lenders under the $1.5 billion term loan guaranteed by Think & Learn Pvt Ltd, said in a statement, "Pankaj Srivastava's actions are unprecedented and illegitimate." The bench heard the petition filed by Glast Trust on Wednesday. Glast Trust recently moved the NCLT, Bengaluru, seeking removal of Pankaj Srivastava as the IRP.

On August 14, 2024, Srivastava resumed office as the interim resolution professional of Think & Learn and formed the CoC on August 21. Air India MRO to be operational in 2026

"AIR India is in the process of transformation, as part of which we have acquired over 500 aircraft, while also bringing in more capabilities in-house to improve our reliability and maintain cabin presentability," said Air India CEO and MD Campbell Wilson.

The new facility is expected to be completed by 2025-end, and begin operations the following year, and is expected to generate over 1,200 new jobs, and support over 200 SMEs in the state through an enhanced supply chain.

The MRO facility will feature a mega hangar to accommodate both wide-body and narrow-body aircraft under a single roof for base maintenance. The facility's capacity will be further expanded to include additional hangars to service more aircraft, including a paint hangar. It will be equipped with overhead tele-platforms, cranes, universal docking systems and the largest vertical lift hangar doors in the country.

Air India has also signed an agreement with SIA Engineering Company (SIAEC) to be its strategic partner for the development of this MRO facility. "It's important to have this capability in-house. We feel that the size of our future business will require a facility on which we can have a bit of control and influence," he added.

The Bengaluru MRO facility, expansion of in-house line maintenance facilities across the network and the recently refurbished wide-body hangar in Mumbai will make Air India more self-reliant in maintaining its entire fleet from 2025. The airline also plans to build a new wide body hangar in Delhi to cater to line maintenance requirements, which will help develop a complete maintenance ecosystem at all major airports.

Besides, it plans to open a Basic Maintenance Training Organisation (BMTO) in Bengaluru next year, to ensure continuous inflow of trained personnel for aircraft maintenance and engineering. "This will create opportunities for engineering students to receive training to become type-rated engineers for certification. We are initially looking at training about 50 engineers," Wilson informed.

"We are bullish about Bengaluru. The process of making the city a hub is to base more aircraft here and operate more flights," he added.

Earlier, the ground-breaking ceremony to start the facility's construction was held. It was attended by Commissioner for Industrial Development, and Director, Department of Industries & Commerce, Government of Karnataka, Gunjan Krishna; BIAL MD and CEO Hari Marar; and SIAEC CEO Chin Yau Seng; apart from Wilson and other senior executives.

Govt to clear FAME-III scheme in 1-2 months: Kumaraswamy

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Centre is expected to clear the much-anticipated third phase of the Faster Adoption and Manufacturing of (Hybrid and) Electric Vehicle (FAME) scheme in the next one-two months, heavy industries minister H D Kumaraswamy said on Wednesday.

The assurance by the minister comes as the temporary Electric Mobility Promotion Scheme (EMPS) 2024 is set to expire by the end of this month. Kumaraswamy informed that an inter-ministerial group is working on the inputs received for the scheme, and efforts are being made to address the issues in the first two phases of the scheme.

"On FAME- III, several suggestions are coming because in FAME-I, FAME-II whatever lacunae is there, how to separate it, for that we are working. Even the PMO has given some suggestions, for that our inter-ministerial group is working...I think within 1 month, 2 months, it will be cleared," Kumaraswamy said.

> On FAME- III, several suggestions are coming because in FAME-I, FAME-II whatever lacunae is there, how to separate it, for that we are working. Even the PMO has given some suggestions, for that our inter-ministerial group is working...I think within 1 month, 2 months, it will be cleared — HD Kumaraswamy, heavy industries minister

Several electric vehicle (EV) manufacturers and industry bodies have been pushing the government to introduce the third phase of FAME at the earliest owing to a dip in sales of battery-powered vehicles. Unlike the FAME-II scheme, subsidy under EMPS is limited to electric two- and three-wheelers.

Sources at the heavy industry ministry have indicated that there would not be big changes in the FAME 3 scheme and the subsidy criteria may remain the same compared to the second phase of the scheme.

"The scheme is in the final stage and it would most likely be out in the beginning of October," said a senior official at the ministry.

FAME-II was introduced in 2019 with an initial outlay of ₹10,000 crore for three years. However, later it was extended up to March 2024 with an additional outlay of ₹1,500 crore. The scheme first came to support 10 lakh electric two-wheelers, five lakh electric three-wheelers, 55,000 passenger cars, and 7,000 electric buses.

From Nottingham to Anantapur, Andhra in 36 hours, southpaw from Tamil Nadu ready to wield the willow for India C in the domestic tournament

'Grateful' Sudharsan targets Duleep Trophy

GOMESH S @ Chennai

ON September 1, B Sai Sudharsan was in Nottingham, playing for Surrey against the home team, Nottinghamshire, in county cricket. It was his second year in England with Surrey, but this time, it was different as he was batting predominately in the lower middle-order. Having scored a century (105) in the first innings, he would add another valuable 28 (second highest score of the innings) in the second as the contest ended in a draw.

About 36 hours after the match, the India batter is in Anantapur, getting ready for the opening round of the Duleep Trophy match between India C (his team) and D. He took a flight from England on Monday morning, and reached Anantapur 24 hours later via a cab ride from the Bengaluru airport — a busy 36 hours to say the least. Sai Sudharsan, however, is not one bit tired. "Grateful" is the word he uses. "This is what we have been working so hard for, preparing to play cricket and these opportunities, I am grateful for it. That is how I look at it," the 22-year-old tells this daily. "It was great this time (at Surrey). It is not new but this year I got used to it. There were more interactions with the players. I stayed alone in an apartment, taking care of myself. It was a new experience. After the match, you come back to your apartment and you have a normal life. (As for batting at No. 6) It was not that different. When you open you have enough time, but No.6 means you will have to maintain a scoring rate and there are batting points in county, taking calculative risks, building partnerships with bowlers, the small experiences were really good."

But it is not just the last three days. Sai Sudharsan has had a busy couple of months. After the Indian Premier League, the left-hander played first three matches of the TNCA first Division league for Jolly Rovers before leaving for Surrey. He played the match against Essex from June 30 to July 3, and then went to Zimbabwe where he made his T20I debut for India on July 7 before coming back home for the Tamil Nadu Premier League. He played seven matches and scored 238 runs as Lyca Kovai Kings fell short against Dindigul Dragons in the final on August 4.

> It was great this time (at Surrey). It is not new but this year I got used to it. There were more interactions with the players. I stayed alone in an apartment, taking care of myself. It was a new experience.
> B Sai Sudharsan

Ask him how he has managed his training and workload, Sai Sudharsan turns the conversation towards constant preparation and recovery. "Recovery is key. Constant preparation and recovery. We play many games but we manage our body better and it will take care of itself. It's just better sleep, good nutrition, systematic consistent training and recovery," he says.

It was only after the TNPL Sai Sudharsan had a couple of weeks off. During that time, he charted out the schedule till the Duleep Trophy while simultaneously working on getting ready for the long red-ball season ahead. "Before Surrey I knew this was coming they had named the Duleep Trophy team and I started planning and I already knew it, so I prepared accordingly."

During the ten days he had, Sai Sudharsan would wake up at 5-5.30 in the morning, work on body and strength training from 6-7.30 am and then take to batting through the day at the Coaching Beyond Academy in Chennai. He would bat from 10-10.30 am till 1 pm, take a two-hour break and then bat again from 3-5.30 pm. "In those 10-12 days, I worked on my batting, body. I had time to prepare for upcoming games and Duleep Trophy. I worked more on my body and strength. Batting, I planned it in such a way that I bat the whole day," said Sai Sudharsan.

In the last ten months, the Tamil Nadu batter has made his India debut in both the white-ball formats. Test cricket, meanwhile, remains the ultimate prize for any cricketer and Sai Sudharsan is no different. While the 22-year-old dreams of playing Test cricket for India, he is not focussing on that. He believes it comes as a byproduct when you give your best and help the team win. "My personal goal is to help the team win whether it's Duleep Trophy or any team you play for. Whenever we get to contribute and make a difference for the team that will eventually give byproduct of what everyone wants (India call-up). If you are giving your best for the team and winning trophy nothing like it," said Sai Sudharsan whose first target is to win the Duleep Trophy before giving his best for Tamil Nadu in the Ranji Trophy.

"Obviously, to win Duleep Trophy, but Tamil Nadu is closer to heart, especially Ranji Trophy the way we prepare as a team, we will give our best to win the tournament. Personally, I would love to give everything to win. Last year (TN reached semifinals), I had an opportunity but I didn't perform at my best. This year when I start I should give my best for the team," he signed off.

Points to ponder

With the Duleep Trophy beginning in two centres from Thursday, a quick look at some talking points...

INJURY CONCERNS

Wicketkeeper-batter Ishan Kishan was ruled out for the first round due to a groin injury on Wednesday. Kishan was included in India D side, being captained by Shreyas Iyer. They will face India C at Anantapur in the opening round. It has been learnt that Kishan suffered the injury while playing for Jharkhand in the Buchi Babu Tournamentw.

Besides, India A pacer Prasidh Krishna, recuperating from a surgery he had undergone earlier this year, will also miss the first round encounter with India B. Earlier, Suryakumar Yadav was ruled out of the opening round after sustaining a bruise on his hand while playing for Mumbai in the Buchi Babu Tournament. India pacers Mohammed Siraj and Umran Malik were also withdrawn from the tournament because of illness while all-rounder Ravindra Jadeja was released from India B but the reason remained unspecified.

TWIN CLASHES

India A vs India B, Bengaluru

India C vs India D, Anantapur

(Matches start at 9:30AM)

PANT'S RED-BALL RETURN

Rishabh Pant will play his first red-ball match when he turns out for the Abhimanyu Easwaran-led Team B against Shubman Gill-captained Team A at the Chinnaswamy Stadium. His last red-ball outing was against Bangladesh in December 2022. Pant is the designated stumper in Team B, and it is evident that the Ajit Agarkar-led selection panel is intending to take a deep look into his role as the wicketkeeper-batter in a season that will culminate with the World Test Championship Final at the Lord's next June. But that is just one piece of the puzzle as other worthy contenders are there for the wicketkeeper-batter's slot. The front-runner is Dhruv Jurel (Team A), who was impressive in his debut series against England earlier this year.

Archer Harvinder clinches historic gold in Paralympics

AGENCIES @ Paris

Recurve archer Harvinder Singh won five back-to-back matches on Wednesday en route to his historic gold at the 2024 Paris Paralympics | X (FORMERLY TWITTER)

TOKYO Games bronze-winner Harvinder Singh became the first Indian archer to win a gold medal at the Paralympics, beating Poland's Lukasz Ciszek in a lop-sided final on Wednesday.

The 33-year-old Indian, who lost to Kevin Mather of the USA in the Tokyo Paralympics semifinals before securing a bronze three years ago, put up a dominant show to knock out Ciszek 6-0 (28-24, 28-27, 29-25).

Harvinder, who is pursuing Ph.D in Economics, won five back-to-back matches in a single day, showing neither fatigue nor nerves to etch his name in history and clinch India's second medal in archery here. Both his legs are impaired owing to the side effects of dengue treatment that he underwent as a toddler.

Silver for Shot-putter Khilari

World hampion Sachin Sarjerao Khilari clinched a silver in men's shot put F46 event with an Asian record distance of 16.32m as the country's track-and-field athletes continued their unprecedented medal-winning run. The 34-year-old Khilari achieved his best throw of the day in his second attempt to better his own Asian record of 16.30m which he set while winning gold in the World Para-Athletics Championships in Japan in May.

However, the effort, which was also his personal best, was not enough for the top honour as Greg Stewart of Canada defended his Tokyo Paralympics gold with a throw of 16.38m. Luka Bakovic of Croatia took the bronze with 16.27m.

Khilari's silver is the 11th medal from para-athletics in the ongoing Games. Stewart had finished second to Khilari in the World Para-Athletics Championships in Kobe in May, and the tables were turned at Stade de France on Wednesday.

F46 classification is for athletes with arm deficiency, impaired muscle power or impaired passive range of movement in arms, with athletes competing in a standing position. "I had wanted to win the gold medal, but it did not happen. It's my best distance but I am not satisfied. I feel I could have done better. It was not my day," Khilari said after winning the silver medal.

"It was a tough competition and Greg Stewart is a great player. I made small mistakes in my technique. I will work harder and I hope to beat him next time." Late on Tuesday night, Indians won silver and bronze in both men's high jump T63 and javelin throw F46 after Deepthi Jeevanji's bronze in the women's 400m T20 category.

Sharad Kumar and Mariyappan Thangavelu won silver and bronze respectively in the men's high jump T63 while Ajeet Singh and Sundar Singh Gurjar took the second and third sports in the javelin throw F46 final.

On Wednesday, Khilari was leading at the end of the second round but Stewart surged ahead with his third throw of 16.34m before improving further in his fifth and penultimate attempt of 16.38m. Other Indians in the fray, Mohd Yasser (14.21m) and Rohit Kumar (14.10m) finished eighth and ninth respectively. American Joshua Cinnamo, who holds the world record of 16.80m, was fourth with 15.66m.

A mechanical engineering degree holder, Khilari, who had also won a gold in last year's Asian Para Games in China, has an impaired left hand. Hailing from a farming family at Karagani village in Maharashtra's Sangli district, Khilari met with an accident during his school days. The injury resulted in gangrene of the skin on his elbow and muscle atrophy. Even after several surgeries, his arm never recovered. He also lost his mother when he was young.

Despite all these setbacks, he took up javelin while he was studying to become an engineer. A shoulder injury during competition forced him to switch to shot put.

Khilari was introduced to para sports in 2015 and later met well-known coach Satyanarayana who supported him in improving his game.

He also worked as a visiting faculty member at various institutions, assisting students in their UPSC and Maharashtra Public Service examination preparations.

The previous best show by India's track and field contingent in a single Paralympics was in Tokyo when it won one gold, five silver and two bronze medals. With 11 medals, including a gold from star javelin thrower Sumit Antil, the para athletes have bagged more than half of the country's total medals.

Bhavinaben bows out of singles TT quarterfinal

India's challenge in women's singles table tennis at the Paralympics ended on Wednesday after Tokyo edition's silver-medallist Bhavinaben Patel lost to China's Ying Zhou 3-1 in the class 4 quarterfinal. Bhavinaben, who became India's first-ever medal winner in the sport with her silver in the Tokyo Paralympics, fought hard in the first two games and even won the third but eventually lost to her Chinese rival 12-14, 9-11, 11-8, 6-11.

T20 WC in Dubai will be once in a lifetime experience: Mughal

KALYANI MANGALE @ Chennai

'WITH the 2024 ICC Women's T20 World Cup shifting from Bangladesh to Dubai and Sharjah, former UAE captain Chaya Mughal believes this could work as a boost for women's cricket in the region. While not many participating nations have extensive experience of playing in these conditions, she hopes the event gives the players an experience of a lifetime.

"Having this opportunity in my county is huge," Mughal told this daily. " It is a great boost for girls here who want to pursue cricket at the highest level. Weather conditions wise, October is going to be better. Around 4 or 5 PM, it does get better. So expect the weather not to be too harsh in the month. It will be a different experience for players in these conditions surrounded by the desert. But I do hope this becomes one of the best experiences for all the players involved," she added.

Mughal highlighted that watching the top side compete for the trophy will provide a great experience for the young players from UAE. As an associate nation, the UAE hardly get an opportunity to compete against the top-ranked nations outside of Asia. She hopes players can make the most of this opportunity by observing the matches in person. "It could be a learning curve for the national team. You don't just learn by playing, you can learn plenty by sitting outside and observing the game. They can look at what the best teams like Australia, India and England are doing at the international level to be the best. Players can observe the minute details that they can miss out on while watching the game on TV."

With ICC's recent announcement regarding the 2026 edition of the WC, where 12 teams will participate for the first time, it will open the gate for teams other than full member nations. Mughal welcomed this decision. "This decision feels like these teams coming from associate nations belong at the highest level, they just need to play better cricket to get there. They would have to go through a long qualification process to make it to the WC and once they get it, I know, the feeling for these players would be like, we have earned that place at the highest possible level. It is a great initiative from the ICC. Now, when they are practicing the whole year, they have this realistic aim: they can play in the WC," she signed off.

UTT: Ahmedabad enter semis with win over Jaipur

ENS @ Chennai

WORLD No.13 Bernadette Szocs and Manush Shah led the charge as Ahmedabad SG Pipers waltzed into the semi-finals in style with a 12-3 thrashing of Jaipur Patriots in the Ultimate Table Tennis 2024 at the Jawaharlal Nehru Indoor Stadium. Ahmedabad have thus finished the league stage at the second spot with 42 points.

Coming to Wednesday's tie, both teams needed to win big to enter the knockouts. Ahmedabad were off to a good start as Lilian Bardet defeated Cho Seungmin 2-1 in the first men's singles. Jaipur needed to win every game from thereon in order to qualify for the semi-finals and their hopes came crashing down during the first women's singles when Bernadette drubbed Suthasini Sawettabut 3-0.

Bernadette gave the Ahmedabad fans more reasons to smile when she teamed up with Manush to beat the Jaipur's pair of Nithyashree Mani and Cho 2-1 in the mixed doubles. Manush continued the domination for Ahmedabad, outclassing Snehit SFR 2-1, while Reeth Rishya rounded off a successful evening by outclassing Moumita Dutta 3-0. In the first semi-final, Bengaluru will meet Goa on Thursday while Ahmedabad will face Delhi in the second semifinal on Friday. Result: Ahmedabad SG Pipers bt Jaipur Patriots 12-3.

US OPEN

Tiafoe and Fritz set up all-American semifinal clash

AP @ New York

FRANCES Tiafoe and Taylor Fritz set up an all-American semifinal at the US Open with victories on Tuesday, guaranteeing the United States a man in the title match at the country's Grand Slam tournament for the first time in 18 years.

The 20th-seeded Tiafoe made it to the final four at Flushing Meadows for the second time in three years when his quarterfinal opponent, Grigor Dimitrov, stopped playing because of an injury in the fourth set. Tiafoe was leading 6-3, 6-7 (5), 6-3, 4-1 with midnight approaching when Dimitrov retired from the match, providing an anticlimactic ending to a contest that was not necessarily of the highest quality. "It's not the way I want to get through," Tiafoe said, "but obviously happy to get through. Another semifinal here. Incredible."

Just one glimpse of the sort of uneven play from both: Dimitrov held three set points in the tiebreaker at 6-3. On the first, he double-faulted. On the second, he double-faulted again. On the third, Tiafoe double-faulted, handing over that set. Hours earlier, Fritz advanced in a far more satisfying way, watching one last errant forehand from his higher-ranked, more-accomplished opponent land wide. Fritz dropped his neon-colored racket, clenched both fists and screamed, "Come on!"

Taylor Fritz reacts after defeating Alexander Zverev in quarterfinal | AP

He gathered himself and his equipment, walked to the net for a hug with No. 4 Alexander Zverev, who twice was a Grand Slam runner-up, then stepped to the center of Arthur Ashe Stadium, spread his arms wide and yelled again, "Come on!"

Results (Tuesday, quarters): Men: Frances Tiafoe bt Grigor Dimitrov 6-3, 6-7(5), 6-3, 4-1 retd, Taylor Friz bt Alexander Zverev 7-6(2), 3-6, 6-4, 7-6(3); Women: Aryna Sabalenka bt Qinwen Zheng 6-1, 6-2, Emma Navarro bt Paulo Badosa 6-2, 7-5.

After years of climbing the rankings, of becoming the top American man in tennis, of coming close to making a breakthrough at one of his sport's four most important events, Fritz finally came through at home, beating Zverev 7-6 (2), 3-6, 6-4, 7-6 (3) to reach a major semifinal for the first time. Now on Friday, he will take on longtime friend Tiafoe. Fritz holds a 6-1 head-to-head edge over Tiafoe as pros.

Muchova storms into semis

Karolina Muchova of the Czech Republic reached the US Open semifinals for a second successive year on Wednesday with a straight sets win over Beatriz Haddad Maia of Brazil. World number 52 Muchova triumphed 6-1, 6-4 and will face either world number one Iga Swiatek or Jessica Pegula of the USA for a place in Saturday's final.

SECRET OF THE SAHYADRI!

Skirting the foothills of the Western Ghats and just a 100 kms from the sea, Belagavi is a perfect destination for a monsoon holiday...

Safa Masjid

ROMAL LAISRAM

THE first time we heard that we were invited to Belagavi for a familiarisation trip, our reaction was: is there anything worth seeing there? How uninformed were we, because our maiden visit to the city proved that the city had so much to offer and lots more!

Belagavi, Belgaum or Belgaon. Call it what you may, the city traces its origins to the 12th Century CE, when the Ratta Dynasty shifted their capital from Saundatti (80 kms away) to what was then called Venugram (Bamboo Village). One of the first areas they developed is now within the safekeeping of the Belgaum Fort and is known as the Kamal Basadi area. The city then passed in and out of several kingdoms and finally into independent India, where it has continued to be claimed by two states — the current parent state of Karnataka and also the neighbouring state of Maharashtra.

With an average elevation of 770 metres (2,530 feet), the climate is pleasant and the city is a great place to head to at anytime of the year. We visited during the monsoons and the weather wasn't very different from a hill station — rainclouds and descending mists included. If you get a chance to visit Belagavi anytime soon, here are some of the places that you have to visit, just so you, like us, change your opinion about this beautiful 'gaum' on the Sahyadri foothills.

St Mary's Church

Kamal Basadi

Kamal Basadi

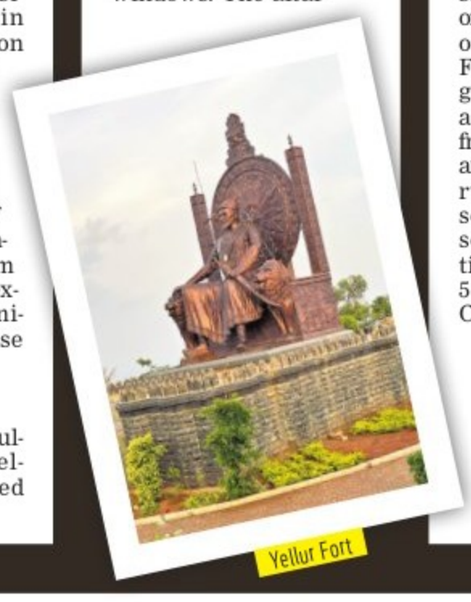
The Kamal Basadi was built by Birchiraja, also called Jaya Raya, an officer in the court of Kartavirya IV of the Ratta Dynasty in 1204 CE under the guidance of a Jain monk. According to two stone tablets, now placed inside Royal Asiatic Society branch in Mumbai, an inscription dating back to 1205 CE, the temple was constructed by the architect Kartaviryadeva and Yuvrajakumara Mallikarjunadeva. Situated in the heart of the city within the confines of the Belgaum Fort, two structures exist — a temple to Neminatha and a resthouse right beside it.

Safa Masjid

In 1474, the Bahmani Sultanate conquered Belgaum with an army led by Mahmud Gawan. The Belgaum Fort was strengthened by the Adil Shah Dynasty sultans and they built the Safa Mosque. A Persian inscription states that the mosque was built by Asad Khan, a Bijapur commander. In 1518, the Bahamani Sultanate splintered into five small states and Belgaum became part of the erstwhile Bijapur Sultanate. Situated within the same fort as the Kamal Basadi, it stands testament to how different powers managed to rule out of the same capital for a long period of time.

St Mary's Church

Built in 1869, it was consecrated by the then governor of the Bombay Presidency and is built in the Gothic Style. Rev Francis Gell is believed to have designed the building. This imposing stone church of the Anglican order has fine piers in the prayer hall and gorgeous stained glasses at its doors and windows. The altar is built with teak and marble and is towered by an exceptionally beautiful stained-glass collage which depicts the life of Jesus from birth to resurrection in 12 frames. The church is located within the Camp area, which is what remains of the once popular Belgaum Cantonment that existed during the British Era.



Yellur Fort

Yellur Fort

Perched at the top of a hill close to Belagavi city (15 kms), Yellur Fort (also known as Rajhansgad Fort) is an ancient fort that has been ruled by several kings including the Marathas, the Peshwas, the Hoysalas and the Bahamani Sultans. Besides the stunning views of the valley below, glossy carpeted meadows and verdant paddy fields — the fortress also has a Shiva Temple (Bhootnath Temple) and a rustic well enclosed within the walls. The fort was originally constructed by the Rattas and later renovated in stone by Asad Khan Lari of Bijapur. It served as an outpost of the Belagavi Fort, providing a strategic vantage point to spot and prevent enemies from the Goa and Karwar areas. During the British rule, the fort was garrisoned with around 100 soldiers for its protection. It now also houses a 50-foot-tall statue of Chhatrapati Shivaji.

Author Ishaa Vinod Chopra, daughter of ace director Vidhu Vinod Chopra, who recently released her memoir Finding Order in Disorder, opens up about her struggle with bipolar disorder and the layers of stigma associated with mental health issues

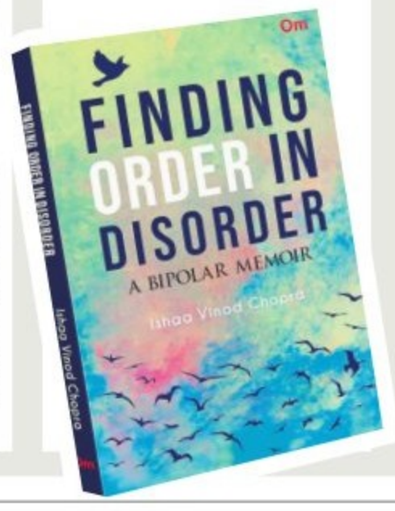
'THERE WAS A SLIGHT RISK IN SPEAKING ABOUT THIS'

MONIKA MONALISA

CARRYING a famous surname hasn't stopped Ishaa Vinod Chopra, daughter of Bollywood filmmaker Vidhu Vinod Chopra, from telling a story many would prefer to keep under the wraps. In Finding Order in Disorder: A Bipolar Memoir (Om Publications, ₹395), she confronts the chaos of living with bipolar disorder, breaking the stigma often attached to mental health struggles. In conversation with CE, the 33-year-old speaks with raw honesty and unflinching courage about her journey of self-discovery, navigating the dual burdens of fame and mental illness. Excerpts:

What inspired you to write a personal account of your struggle with bipolar disorder?
My journey of writing this memoir began with a few pages of journaling of my lived experiences. As a philosophical inquiry, I wanted to name my book In Pursuit of Universal Truths. But when my father provided me with the title Finding Order in Disorder after reading just the first four pages eight years ago, I was motivated to shift the focus from journaling to relating it to bipolar disorder. I realised there was a massive gap in the understanding of the disorder, and the stigma that accompanied it was two-fold. First was the self-stigma that patients who were diagnosed or not diagnosed with bipolar disorder held which impacted their self-image, self-esteem, and confidence. The second was the societal stigma against mental health that is deeply entrenched in our society. These layers of stigma prompted me to write this memoir.

Did you ever think it would open up so many discussions on a topic that is still not spoken about openly?
I doubted whether my memoir would open up these 'hush-hush' discussions. I was aware that these experiences are far more present than we imagine. Suppressing these conversations does not make them disappear but only adds to the fuel to make matters worse for both patients as well as their family and friends. I realised that these conversations are already being addressed, and providing real-life experiences could add to the authenticity that many explanations lack due to dramatisation and misconceptions in popular culture.



Coming with an illustrious surname, was there a risk in speaking about this aspect of your life?
There was a slight risk in speaking about these aspects of my life. I am grateful for the unparalleled support that my parents gave me while transcending long-distance barriers in the case of my father. The onus on me to speak was even more significant since I felt a moral responsibility to reach out and normalise these topics and say that it is okay to be 'comfortable with being uncomfortable.'

How did you use Kathak and other art forms to help you?
Throughout my episodes, I have been drawn to spirituality, art, dance, and yoga. Someone with my diagnosis needs to have a positive way to channel energies and I was blessed to have Kathak both in and outside rehab. I also uploaded some of my dances on YouTube, where it is hard to notice when I am supposedly 'unwell', which is the beauty of art. I used simple yoga asanas to help me relax. Painting was yet another source of creativity, some of which is on my book cover and in the memoir.

How did you open up to your family & friends about it?
I was fortunate that when I was diagnosed at the age of 16, I made close friends who I am still in touch with. I did not face a significant barrier in 'opening up' since I usually did not engage with people who were unable or unwilling to understand or empathise with me. It made me realise who truly loved me for me or if it was simply because of having 'good times' or because of my family background. Yes, there were challenges, especially when there were misunderstandings or a gap in communication between me and my parents. However, my suggestion to others reading this is to not carry heavy expectations from family and to believe that they come from a place of love and understanding.

Even as mental health discussions become more open, bipolar disorder remains a complex and often misunderstood condition. CE explores the condition, challenges and available treatments

DESE GOWDA & MAHIMA ANNA JACOB

MENTAL health has become a much-discussed topic in recent times. With more people sharing their personal struggles, there's a growing openness. One highly misunderstood condition that's being widely discussed these days is bipolar disorder as several celebrities have been sharing their personal battles with the disorder. Yo Yo Honey Singh, Kanye West, Selena Gomez, and Mariah Carey are some of them. Now a book, Finding Order in Disorder: A Bipolar Memoir, by Ishaa Vinod Chopra, has brought forth discussions on the condition. [See interview]

Dr Arun B Nair, professor of psychiatry at Thiruvananthapuram Medical College, explains the basics: "It is a mood disorder characterised by episodes of overactivity, increased energy, and reduced need for sleep. When there is either excessive anger or happiness, that phase is called mania. There are two types – bipolar 1 is characterised by episodes of mania alternating with episodes of depression, while bipolar 2 is when the patient experiences episodes of hypomania, alternating with episodes of depression. Hypomania is a state in which there is an increased sense of well-being and increased energy, but it is not as disruptive as mania." Dr Muralidharan Kesavan, medical superintendent and professor of psychiatry at the National Institute of Mental Health and Neuro Sciences (NIMHANS), notes that the National Mental Health Survey points out that the prevalence of bipolar disorder is estimated at around 0.5 per cent of the general population. "Interestingly, the prevalence is slightly higher in men compared to women in India, although globally, it's equally prevalent across genders. In fact, a WHO survey estimated the global prevalence at around 2.4 per cent, which makes it a significant public health issue," he adds.

Bipolar disorder usually manifests between the ages of 15 and 25. Popular columnist Aparna Piramal Raje, author of Chemical Khichdi: How I Hacked My Mental Health, experienced bipolarity when she was 24.

"It was in mid-2000, although at the time, neither my family nor I were familiar with the term. I was about to begin an MBA at Harvard Business School. This excitement, combined with some emotional turbulence in my personal life, created the 'perfect storm' that triggered hypomania," she says. "I lost sleep, experienced delusions of grandeur, and had a constant rush of ideas. My sister and mother had to accompany me to Boston because I was unable to travel on my own. While I was relishing the high, they were perplexed by my behaviour, particularly the changes in my facial expressions and eyes. When they left Boston, I sank into depression for several months. After consultations, it was understood that I was bipolar."

Misconceptions & treatment

The disorder isn't hard to identify, as in most cases there will be a clear change from baseline behaviour. "However, people often don't understand that this is a medical issue — a mental health condition," says Dr Kesavan. However, Dr Meghana, a clinical psychologist says bipolar disorder is often mistaken for several other conditions. "The most common one is clinical depression because both bipolar disorder and depression involve depressive episodes. Some also think it's a sign of personal weakness or a lack of willpower, but they don't realise that it's actually a complex condition," she adds.

Freelance journalist and writer Shreevatsa Nevatia, who has gone through the trauma of the disorder, says bipolarity is manageable through therapy and medication. But he cautions that even with all the precautions, one might still experience mania.

"That's the nature of the illness. It could happen once a year, or once in two years, or, if you're lucky, after longer breaks. But when it does, those manic spells are incredibly debilitating, sometimes the episode lasts weeks or even a month," he says. "The emotions one feels during these episodes are always extreme. For example, if you're angry with someone, you're angry to the point of aggression. You might act impulsively or rashly, doing things like quitting your job, leaving home, or severing friendships."

What often gets overlooked is that bipolar disorder is primarily caused by chemical imbalances in the brain, he adds. "It is often misunderstood, and people don't always realise that it wasn't 'you' talking—it was the illness," says Nevatia. "But when your support system understands that it's a cycle and that you will come out the other side as yourself again, it makes all the difference. They stand by you, love you, and support you —and that's hugely important. Without a support system, I wouldn't have been able to live my life the way I do."

Speed skater Dhanush Babu, who will be participating in the World Skate Games Italia 2024, on his preparation, representing India on such a big platform and more

ON A Roll

Bengaluru's weather is a huge blessing. Even if it rains, the conditions return to normal faster than in other cities

Dhanush Babu, skater

MONIKA MONALISA

IF you ever see skater Dhanush Babu whizz past you, you could be forgiven for thinking he was flying. This Malleswaram lad, widely regarded as the top roller skater in the country, is currently preparing to head to the World Skate Games Italia 2024, which will be held in Italy between September 13 and 19.

The 29-year-old, who has been training tirelessly, says his preparation and strategy are well in place. "Bengaluru's weather is a huge blessing. Even if it rains, the conditions return to normal faster than in other cities," says Babu. "Italy is a coastal place with low altitude, so practising at a higher altitude here is always an advantage."

This isn't Babu's first appearance at the World Championship, and he has been keeping a close eye on the top skaters and champions. "I've been studying their game. Of course, they have better infrastructure, but this time I feel confident and on par with them. I'm aiming for nothing less than a gold medal," says Babu, who has represented India 11 times at the World and Asian Championships.

While skating has gained significant popularity as a competitive sport, Babu hopes it will receive even greater recognition. "In our country, most sports are overshadowed by the dominance of cricket, which directly affects the infrastructure and sponsorship we receive. For example, at the moment, I'm sponsored by skating equipment companies, but other expenses are still our own," says Babu, who started skating at the age of four. He also notes that the Indian government provides ₹50,000 for the World Championship, but the amount is barely enough to cover the needs of an athlete. "It's just enough for a one-way trip. A sportsperson has additional expenses, including training, nutrition, and rehabilitation," says Babu, who trains at his private facility.

Despite the challenges, he's pleased with the increasing popularity of roller skating, which has grown from a mere hobby to a competitive sport.

"These days, many schools include skating in their curriculum. With the sport gaining wider visibility, more parents are willing to send their children to competitions, and the number of tournaments has also increased," says Babu, adding that social media has played a significant role in this rise.

Cortisol is considered as one of the reasons behind weight gain. Can you explain what it is and how it affects the body?

Cortisol, also known as the 'stress hormone', is released by the adrenal gland in response to stress, anxiety, or fear. Chronically elevated cortisol levels can have detrimental effects on our body, including weight gain.

ASK AN XPERT

- It slows down the metabolism drastically and leads the body to store fat, particularly around the midsection making it harder to lose weight.
- Cortisol also increases cravings for high-calorie comfort foods, leading to overeating and poor food choices. In the long run, elevated cortisol levels can lead to muscle breakdown, further slowing down metabolism.
- Along with this, disturbed sleep patterns can also lead to fatigue, mood disturbances and further weight gain.
- Stress has to be addressed via techniques like yoga, meditation, or deep breathing exercises whilst regular exercise is a must.

FITBIT

It is named to pay homage to the sage Bharadvaja, mentioned in various Hindu Scriptures and Texts. Spiritually, it activates Manipura Chakra, enhancing self-confidence and personal power.

STEPS

- Sit straight, stretching your spine and legs extended in the front in Dandasana (Staff Pose).

- Place your left hand behind the buttock and keep your shoulders in one line.
- Finally, inhale, lengthen the spine, and lift the sternum. Exhale, twist your upper body to the left along the neck to look behind.
- Stay here for about six breaths or as per the body's capacity. Keep your spine long, hands straight, and chin aligned to the chest. Breathe deeply and evenly. With each exhalation, try to deepen the twist slightly.
- Keep your core engaged to support your lower back. Continue with the twist and avoid hunching or slouching.
- To release, inhale, turn to centre. Release the hands and straighten the legs to realign in Dandasana. Remain here for a breath or two. Then counter the stretch on the other side, following the above instructions.
- Release and return to Dandasana.

Busting myths about intermittent fasting, this expert cautions against a one-size-fits-all approach

ALL ABOUT INTERMITTENT FASTING

THERE are various opinions about different kinds of dieting. However, the fact is not every diet method is suitable for all. Here, I look at the various unfounded information being spread about intermittent fasting. Let's bust some myths.

- Myth: Intermittent fasting is safe for all
- Fact: It depends on each individual's age, medical condition and activity level. It is better to consult a qualified dietitian before starting a diet plan so the long-term goal is achieved rather than quick weight loss accompanied by tiredness, nutrient deficiency and inconsistent approach.

According to a review published in 2019 in The New England Journal of Medicine, fasting for 18 hours a day can improve the ability to manage stress, increase life span, and reduce the risk of several health problems, including obesity and some cancers. However, a study published in January 2023 in the Journal of the American Heart Association says there's no correlation between time-restricted eating and weight loss, as researchers had previously thought.

- Myth: Can lead to long-term weight loss
- Fact: If planned under the guidance of a qualified dietitian along with physical activity, it leads to long-term results. Intermittent fasting alone is insufficient to build muscle strength.

- Myth: Can lower the risk of heart disease
- Fact: When we are conscious of what and what not to select, by avoiding binge eating, adding protein sources and cutting down on simple sugars, disease risk is minimal. Exercise regimen adds value to it.

- Myth: Can improve mental health
- Fact: Those who are determined to do intermittent fasting should adhere to following a healthy pattern, which needs a mindful approach. This in turn will boost willpower and mental health. Some research links fasting to improved moods, vitality, decreased irritability, lowered stress and even a reduction in depression and anxiety. Some studies show short-term fasting can increase depression, anxiety, anger and irritability. The available research is relatively new and based on small sample sizes.

- Myth: Can boost metabolism
- Fact: Intermittent fasting pattern is based on a time-restricted eating pattern, where the person is supposed to choose a healthy combination of meal and snack plan. During the eating window, instead of just two meals, low-calorie liquids and protein snacks are to be consumed to prevent digestive issues. During the fasting window, physical activity is essential. When adhered to these guidelines, it's supportive in boosting metabolism.

- Myth: Offers health benefits to everyone.
- Fact: A generalisation of any plan is like a 'one size fits for all' scenario. Depending on individual characteristics, an intermittent fasting plan is to be tailored and then it provides benefits.

APPLE FOR THE I

APPLES, for as many years as I can remember, have always been associated with good health. 'An apple a day keeps the doctor away' was a phrase I grew up on in England where there was a plethora from the apple family to choose from – 'Golden Delicious', and 'Granny Smith', among others. Later in my years, I graduated to apples of the Kashmir Valley and Himachal Pradesh.

So what makes this fruit so special and healthy in our lives not just for skin and hair care but for the entire body? Apples are high in nutrients like Vitamin C, Vitamin B-6, Vitamin E, Niacin, and Vitamin A. Vitamin C is a powerful antioxidant that works against the common cold and other illnesses. It also repairs damaged tissues, bones and organs. Vitamin B-6 helps to control the central nervous system and promotes healthy brain function as well as reduces muscle cramps and headaches and improves vision. Vitamin E, a powerful antioxidant, helps protect the body from free radicals and toxins and helps promote healthy hair and skin while slowing the ageing process. Niacin helps to reduce blood pressure and lowers cholesterol levels. Vitamin A helps to protect the body from colds and flu and also slows down the ageing process along with improving the general appearance of the skin and hair.

Apples help the teeth become strong and clean; next time you are munching on an apple, see how clean and white your teeth look afterwards! Apple cider vinegar helps restore the acid mantle your skin desperately needs which is constantly being stripped by detergents and other products containing alcohol, including alkaline soaps. It is particularly good for helping soften rough flaky skin. You can wipe your skin with this twice a day. Apple cider vinegar is also an excellent and old-fashioned remedy for heartburn. Take 1 tsp of apple cider vinegar and half a glass of water.

Mask on

Freshly-mashed apples have a toning and astringent effect on the skin and are especially good for sensitive or light-coloured skin tones. If you have sunburns and dry skin, you can make the mask (below) to soothe and repair skin:

- 1 mashed or grated apple
- 1 tsp glycerine
- 1 tsp olive oil
- 1 tsp mayonnaise

Mix well. After cleansing your face, apply it with a plastic or wooden spatula; leave it on for one minute, wash your face with cold milk and then rinse with water.

For tired puffy eyes

Grate half a fresh apple and mix one tsp of apple honey. Cut a two-inch square muslin cloth gauge and place it over the eyes. Cover with the apple-honey mix and leave on for 15-20 minutes. Wash off with cold water.

Healing touch

I have found seasonal fruits to have a healing effect on the body and apples being natural softeners help in healing neglected areas like the elbows, heels and hands.

- 2 mashed apples
- 4 tbsp oatmeal
- 1 tsp fresh cream
- Milk

Rub this mixture on the knees, heels, elbows and hands and see how your skin transforms like magic to baby-soft and pampered skin!

Apple hair tonic

I have made a hair food mask to nourish tresses that are dead and lifeless. Try it out...

- 1 grated apple
- 1 slice pineapple
- 1 slice papaya
- 1 banana
- 1 cucumber

Put all the ingredients into a mixer and blend till it becomes a custard-like consistency. Apply this mixture to the scalp and hair and cover with a cling film or foil for 20 minutes; shampoo your hair with a mild herbal shampoo and see how smooth, soft and lustrous your hair becomes! Apple juice is a wonderful hair tonic and if you have oily hair, take a glass of apple juice, add 2 tsp aloe vera gel and 2 tsp of lemon juice and massage well into the scalp. Leave it on for 15 minutes before shampooing it. This will help rejuvenate your hair and make it more bouncy and shiny.

Start using these recipes both internally and externally and see how they benefit you. Find out that apples have much more versatility than just pies or crumbles!

Survey reveals India's persistent concern over mosquito-borne diseases

A recent pan-India survey by Goodknight, 'One Mosquito, Countless Threats,' reveals that 81 per cent of Indians are concerned about year-round mosquito-borne diseases, with 80 per cent of South India believing that malaria and dengue can happen anytime and not just during monsoons. The survey, conducted by market research firm YouGov, highlights the growing threat of diseases like dengue and malaria, exacerbated by climate change and urbanisation with over 94,000 dengue cases reported last year.

IBBANI TABBIDA ILEYALI
Director: Chandrajith Belliappa
Cast: Ankita Amar, Vihan, Mayuri Nataraja, Girija Shettar
RATING 3/5

Echoes of love and loss

A SHARADHAA

IN the tender spaces where dew drops kiss the morning grass and the sunshine bathes the Earth in a golden glow, a tale of love is reborn. Chandrajith Belliappa's evocative blog, "Dew Drops, Sunshine, and a Blade of Grass," cast a spell on producer Rakshit Shetty, rekindling in him a dormant passion. The words wove themselves into his consciousness, planting the seeds that blossomed into Ibbani Tabbida Ileyali on a grand canvas. This film, however, is not merely a narrative; it's an experience—a visceral journey through love, doubt, and the complexity of human relationships. All of this is told through 10 chapters from the perspective of the protagonist, Siddharth Ashok.

The film begins with a traditional family wedding, introducing us to Sid (Vihan), a young businessman caught in the throes of indecision. He grapples with the dilemma of whether or not to marry Radha (Mayuri Nataraja), a woman ten years younger than him. The story explores the delicate balance between care and love, questioning whether it's fair to marry if one person cannot fall in love with another.

Radha, on the other hand, is a woman of quiet strength. Her dreams of a life with Sid are portrayed beautifully in the song 'Radhe', a melody that captures her inner world. Despite the age gap, Radha's decision to marry Sid is not one of compromise but of hope—hope that love might grow where none existed before.

The film's visual storytelling is as moving as its narrative. The flickering of a photograph, the symbolism of a ring, and the subtle expressions on the actors' faces all contribute to the depth of the story. The tension builds as Sid's true feelings begin to surface—feelings he struggles to articulate. Radha, however, misinterprets his actions, seeing them as playful rather than significant, which only adds to the complexity of their relationship.

Through flashbacks, the film reveals the roots of Sid's hesitation. A Polaroid camera, used by a small child at the wedding, hints at a past that still haunts Sid. He is reminded of not just his mother, who once used a Polaroid camera to capture moments of his life, but also his former love, whose only photograph—a picture of a red postbox—becomes a symbol of memory and regret. Sid's internal conflict is palpable as he considers calling off the wedding, not out of cold feet but rather of a deep sense of honesty—one that might be mistaken for cruelty.

As the narrative unfolds, we are introduced to Anahita (Ankita Amar), a non-Kannadiga, Hindi-speaking girl whose presence lingers like a shadow over Sid's life, complicating his feelings towards Radha. The thin line between care and love blurs, leaving Sid caught between the past and the present.

The film's pivotal moments occur as Sid, struggling with the memory of Anahita, navigates a tangled web of feelings for Radha. We see Sid revisiting memories of Anahita—memories that have haunted him for seven long years. The comparison between Radha and Anahita becomes inevitable as Sid wrestles with the realisation that his longing may not be for Anahita's return but rather for the erasure of her memory altogether. This haunting drives Sid to a breaking point, compelling him to confront his unresolved feelings in a journey to Goa—a journey not just of physical distance but of emotional reckoning, in search of answers.

Chandrajith takes us back and forth in time, revealing the early days of Sid as a tough youth and a cricketer who stands firm for his college. However, he softens when he meets Anahita at a college fest, and the song 'Ooh Anahita' well explains about her. It's love at first sight for Sid and Anahita, who is born on a leap year, celebrates her birthday on February 29, and has her own individual lifestyle—disciplined, introverted, and fond of capturing moments with her Polaroid camera. She loves speaking to flowers, and when she tells Sid early on, "You make me feel uncomfortable," it perfectly describes her guarded life.

It takes time for a friendship to blossom between Sid and Anahita, given her nature. When Sid, with a finger ring in his pocket, finally expresses his love for Anahita, it isn't the dreamy picture he envisioned. Cut to the present, a significant event on a rainy day symbolises both cleansing and the weight of emotions that have been carried for too long. The rain serves as a metaphor for the release of pent-up feelings, washing away the remnants of the past as Sid seeks answers in Goa. Here, the film captures the emotional turmoil of a man caught between the lingering shadows of a past love and the reality of Anahita's present, and almost in a dead end.

Through a fleeting mention by Anahita of her mother's Kannada roots and her Bengali father, Sid uncovers the significance of the book Ibbani Tabbida Ileyali and a picture of a postbox. While the hints lead him to Goa, the question lingers: will they finally voice the love that's remained unspoken?

The film's conclusion is not just a traditional ending but a resolution, one that brings Sid face to face with his fate and with Anahita, the woman who has lived in his heart. As the rain pours down, the story comes full circle, blending the past and present in a way that is both poetic and deeply moving.

Ibbani Tabbida Ileyali leaves its audience with a sense of reflection, inviting them to ponder the thin line between care and love, the memories that shape us, and the inevitability of moving forward even when the heart longs to remain in the past.

Some highlights of the film include Radha's solitary honeymoon, a bittersweet gesture that speaks volumes about her resilience. She carries on, even when Sid is unsure, showing a determination that is both admirable and heartbreaking. As the story unfolds, it becomes clear that Sid is not just struggling with his feelings for Radha but also with the past of Anahita, a woman who left an indelible mark on his soul. His journey to Goa, searching for answers, is symbolic of his need to reconcile his past with his present.

Then there is Sid's mother, whose influence has shaped much of his life and her dream of him becoming a cricketer (although Sid abandons it for a reason). There is also a flashback, delicately woven through the narrative by a taxi driver's recollection at Goa, which transports us 25 years into the past. Here, we encounter familiar faces, now aged by time and burdened by the weight of unspoken emotions. The film shows the threadbare connection between love and care and how easily affection can transform into something more complex. It also reminds us of the popular 1990s Dairy Milk advertisement where the girl gets into a cricket ground; only here, it is reimagined by Anahita in Sid's presence at a football stadium. This brings us to the film's heartbreaking conclusion, which delivers its emotional weight with subtlety, notwithstanding its predictability.

Ibbani Tabbida Ileyali is a film that asks difficult questions. Can love be rekindled where it has faded? Is it right to marry without love? And most importantly, how do we navigate the fine line between care and genuine affection?

The performances are uniformly good across the board, whether it be by Ankita Amar, Vihan, who does full justice to the director's vision, or Mayuri, who takes brownie points for her portrayal of today's practical yet emotional girl. Girija Shettar also makes a comeback after a long time with a key role.

With its poetic visuals from cinematographer Srivathsan Selvarajan, complex characters, Gagan Baderia's soothing background score, some melodious tracks, and outstanding performances, Chandrajith's Ibbani Tabbida Ileyali feels like a cinematic reflection of his meaningful blog. The tale has been explored in various forms across cinema, and the narrative around medical complications might seem familiar, but what sets the film apart is the way it reverberates with the quiet pain of unspoken emotions.

Shalivahana Shake incorporates rural charm into the time loop concept

CE FEATURES

SHALIVAHANA Shake, directed by Girish G, is set to make its theatrical debut with a fresh and intriguing storyline. The film has caught attention with its unique premise, combining the concept of a time loop with elements of rural charm. The title and poster sparked curiosity, and the trailer has further revealed this blend. Girish not only directs but also stars as the lead, alongside Supritha Narayan as the female lead.

Girish explains, "The term 'Shalivahana' refers to a village in this film, which also has a mythological backdrop. The conch shown in the trailer plays a significant role. We have incorporated the time loop narrative within a mythological and a rural setting."

Shailesh Kumar MM, who has been active in theatre for 15 years, has ventured into film production at Side Wings Cinemas. The producer explains that the story unfolds over four to five days and is set within the same time frame. Actor Supritha adds, "The film explores what one might do if they are given a chance to correct events in life."

The film was mostly shot around Kunigal. Unlike most time thrillers that rely on technology, Shalivahana Shake is set in a rural backdrop with local characters. The cast also includes Chillar Manju and Sundar Veena in pivotal roles. Arun Suresh handles the cinematography, while Karthick Boopathy and Hari Ajay have composed the music.

Evil Dead animated series is in the works

BRUCE Campbell, known for playing the role of Ash Williams in the Evil Dead franchise, revealed that an animated series is in the works. "We are developing an animated version, like a series. I love the idea of an Evil Dead series, and I could see it being completely bonkers! They could really go above and beyond anything they've done with the live-action projects," said Campbell.

The horror franchise was originally created by Sam Raimi, who wrote and directed the first three films that were released between 1981 and 1992. Evil Dead has also been a dapted to other formats, such as a television series and a video game.

Campbell also hinted at two new movies in the pipeline. In a recent interview, the actor said, "The future is two more damn movies. We've got two new fabulous directors that have two new scripts in the shoot, and we think we've suckered a studio into coughing up the dough for both, since they seem to still make money."
